After buying the iPod, when you turn the button on of your new iPod touch, you will notice that the product is not fully charged. In order to use it properly first you should charge the newly bought iPod touch fully.

To setup the iPod touch your computer must connected to the internet.

These are certain steps which are only meant for the iPod touch; with the help of these simple steps you can setup your iPod touch easily and without any difficulty:

The setup of the iPod touch begins with the charging of the iPod. In the box you will get the data cable through which you will sync up the iPod and the computer. As the sync is completed charge the battery completely and fully with patiently. To sync the iPod you must have the iTunes, if you donâ€™t have then download it and then install it in your computer and connect the iPod or USB of your computer with the help of the cable.

When you plug in the device, the iPod touch will appear on the left side of the iTunes and the message of â€˜Welcome to your iPodâ€™ will be appear on the device, then click to continue that flashes on the screen of the iPod touch to proceeds to the next step.

Next you will see the agreement of licensed which is put forwarded by the company (to use the iPod touch you have to agree the agreement) click the checkbox mentioned at the bottom of the iPod touch to proceed to the next after the agreement of license.

Next you have to enter the apple Id or the iTunes account. If you donâ€™t have an iTunes then download and install because it is very much essential for the sync, to download or buying the songs, applications and the games from the iTunes. The most important is iTunes is free of cost.

After all this procedure you have to register your iPod touch with the company. It is like agreement license, to register the iPod is necessary. This registration screen will also contain many other check boxes for the further support from the company or if you want to get the notifications of the latest products or the applications of the company to stay up-to-date. Fill out the form according to the requirements or the need and proceed to the next. Click to continue to go the next page.
