New iPhone 5 Phone to Rival Samsung Galaxy S3 by John Henry

Article published on June 27th 2012 | Mobile Phones

The market has been flooded with smartphones that can be said to have brought people closer to technology and giving them more options on their mobile phones. The handset today can be said to performing tasks that were unimagined in the recent history. One such company to have brought technology to its real use is Apple. This brand has features technology in a way that not other company has ever done before. The handsets manufactures by this company are said to be the best in its class and the design and looks are just the topping on the Ice Cream.

The handset that has been last launched by the company was the phone has spent a good time on the shelves and has maintained its reputation as well. However time has come when the company is looking out for the next version in this series. With the launch of several handsets in the recent months, the sales figures and the craze of the iPhone 4S among the people has gone down. This can be said to be a result of high end models that have been launched in the market. One such model to have taken the pride away from Apple is the Samsung Galaxy S3.

This handset has been flaunting more features than the previous models in the market. It has also surpassed the iPhone technology and has created its new landmarks. It can be said to be best handset in the present time. To rival this model, Apple is all set to launch the next version in the iPhone segment. The phone would be called the iPhone 5 and it will have greater looks and features with respect to the earlier models.

The release date of the new Apple gadget has not been announced yet but it is expected to come in the months of September or October. This would be the best time for the company to increase the sales figures as there would be more and more customers looking to this model at the year end. The company seems to have adjusted this date with good marketing prospects. The specs of the phone have not been announced yet but it can be said that the model would be running on the iOS 6 operating system and it would have newer apps and features. The size of the screen would also be a major prospect.
