Samsung has added new armour to their family of Android Galaxy mobile phones. The new smartphone is called Samsung Galaxy Ace Plus, which is an improvised version of the original Galaxy Ace. The Galaxy Ace Plus looks similar to its predecessor but it is loaded with far more impressive and developed features and applications. It is full of Android Gingerbread platform and Samsung services and is also anticipated to be available in the market through various Samsung Galaxy Ace Plus deals offered by the best mobile networking companies.

The smart phone is embedded with various latest technologies and sophisticated advancements. It comes with a 1 GHz processor, 2 GB of storage for content and 1 GB of storage for applications. It is also integrated with HSDPA 7.2 Mbps connectivity, 512 MB of RAM memory. The device is adorned with a 3.65-inch HVGA display with a 480 x 320 pixel resolution. Once the handset is out in the market for sale, it is anticipated to be available through various mobile phone deals such as Samsung Galaxy Ace Plus contract, pay as you go and SIM free deals.

Featured with reticent set of hardware components, the gadget is considered to be one of the best mid range Android 2.3 smartphones in the market. An 800MHz single core processor integrated in to the phone will do all of the number crunching onboard of the phone and you get 3GB of onboard storage space which large enough to store all your important data and files. Like all the Latest Samsung Phones, it is equipped with a smart and high-definition camera of 5 mega pixel added with features like flash for low light shooting. The camera will permit users to click crystal clear picture at a high definition of 2592Ã—1944 pixels. You will find all the web connectivity including Wi-Fi and 3G in the phone that helps users to browse down the Internet with ease and at a faster rate.

It is an Android phone and to make its operating system 2.3 even easier to use, the mobile manufacturer has employed its own TouchWiz user interface over the top, delivering a customisable, colourful and intuitive experience. Samsung has been leading at every stratum of the smartphone market in the past few months by launching high end models like the Galaxy SII and Galaxy Nexus in the market. It is believed that all the leading UK mobile networking vendors such as O2, Orange, Vodafone, Virgin, T Mobile, Three etc will furnish different deals over Samsung Galaxy Ace Plus once it is out in the market for the consumers. These deals will be offered in many online mobile shops where you can compare the different deals and the pick the best according to your needs and pocket.
