Samsung Star Next S5233V - Feature packed at a tiny price by Paul Smith

Article published on June 13th 2012 | Mobile Phones

The latest from Samsung, the Samsung Star Next S5233V is a feature loaded touch phone. The handset is a beautiful black, and is sized at 104 mm x 53 mm x 11.9 mm, designed to fit in a palm grip. The sleek squared thin phone body makes it one of the best looking phones released by Samsung yet.

The Samsung Star Next S5233V phone has a LCD screen is touch screen. Most touch phones in the market do not have a great response to touch. Delayed response, or more taps registered than intended is a common issue with touch phones in the market. However, with the TouchWiz v1.0 technology, the Samsung Start Next S5233V has an excellent response to touch.

Personalize it

For those who like to add a little personal touch to all their things, this phone offers a good potential for it. All applications like the calendar, scheduler, and clocks and alarms and so on can be personalized. Samsung has not brought this phone in the market as a music phone; however the features of its players can put this phone in that class. It can recognize not just the mp3, but also other formats of music files like the AAC, AAC+, WAV and WMA. Apart from the FM channels that are available in most phones, it also has a capability of recognizing a slice of music and can then get it for you from the server. You can have background music on while operating applications on it. The best feature of the player is the enhanced acoustics that gives you a virtual stereo sound effect.

Smart phone at a smart price

Some of the features of this phone were so far available only in smart phones. The camera included in the Samsung Star Next S5233V for instance is a 3 Mega pixel camera which places its quality at par with more expensive phones. Automatic rotating display is a feature again offered in most smart phones, and in very few smaller phones. Samsung Star Next S5233V has this feature, which makes the internet experience so much better than in the other similarly sized phones.

Most Samsung mobile price in India has always been quite reasonable. The Samsung Star Next S5233V price continues this trend; price of this phone is as beautiful as the phone itself. Considering it offers many features of a smart phone and is available for less than Rs. 6000 makes it truly amazing.
