Taking the best advantage of a service and exploiting it to your benefit is well exemplified by the mobile phone prepaid card. Simplicity is what defines this service. No contract, no complexities â€“ just filling of address details and submission of few documents and there you are with a new prepaid card. And then continues your connectivity with people who matter to you located near and far. To call cheap to your near and dear ones located in your city or another state or overseas choose tariff plans that do not burn a hole in your pocket. You will come across dedicated tariff plans for making local calls, STD, and international calls. Not all network operators offer mobile deals for all circles for all types of calls suiting the pockets of all. Every month or every festive occasion you may come across new mobile deals. It is all about keeping watch on such mobile deals exploiting them to your advantage! A world of â€˜call cheapâ€™ facilities awaits prepaid card holders time and again!

Gone were the days when a prepaid card meant just purchasing some airtime and then not bothering until the airtime needs a reload. There werenâ€™t as many mobile deals or tariff plans available as are witnessed today. Of course, there were not many users too. This was because mobile phones were expensive so were getting a new prepaid card and call rates. The 50 paise per minute on an average that you enjoy calling is only a recent phenomenon. Yes, you can even call cheap at 2 paise per minute in local circles to the same network operator!

During the initial days when the mobile phone was launched, people thought twice before making calls. Staying connected for long was a â€˜no worryâ€™ affair for the gentry who could afford it. Todayâ€™ times are different. Every day new prepaid card subscribers are added to the existing portfolio of users. At the rate that the usersâ€™ count is increasing, deeming India as the fastest growing telecommunication market in the world, the day would not be far when everyone has a mobile phone. Yes, not even 20 percent of the Indian populace avail mobile service. Prepaid card providers are only coming out with exclusive and attractive mobile deals to attract attention of new subscribers. To gain a competitive advantage in the long run, a counted few providers have on offer a huge range of tariff plans facilitating subscribers call cheap at local, outstation, and overseas circles, enjoy low-cost internet browsing, listen to music, and lots more.

How do you know whether your prepaid card provider is offering the best of mobile deals in the market? Ask the retailer at the nearest mobile shop or conduct a search online. Every time you go for a recharge ask the recharge service provider at the store if there are any new â€˜call cheapâ€™ plans introduced. Staying updated lets you enjoy the real benefits of using a mobile phone without worrying about the pocket. Stay smart and call smart!
