Article published on December 25th 2011 | Movies

Bollywood is the familiar phrase generally used for the Indian Hindi-language film industry based in Mumbai, one of the most expensive cities in India. The phrase is some time wrongly used to refer to the whole Indian cinema industry but that is not true; it is the only a part of the total Indian film industry, the whole Indian film industry includes other production centers producing films in regional languages.

Bollywood is a trendy name for the Hindi-language film industry in India. The name is the combination of Bombay, the previous name of the film city Mumbai, where the Indian Hindi film industry.

Bollywood is the largest film producer in India and one of the largest centers of film production in all over the world. Bollywood it is also considered to be the largest in the world in terms of number of films produced every year and also the number of tickets sold per year.

The Bollywood film industry market is massive. It is the leading film market in the world in terms of both films released per year and tickets sold. In Boolywood on an average more than four billion tickets sold each year. In terms of financial income Bollywood is far behind from Hollywood.

Every beautiful girlâ€™s and top models in India and also other neighbor country with a pretty face, good height, figure and bit of acting talent wants to join the film industry as a Bollywood Actress. Young girls are usually become attracted to the Bollywood film industry by watching their favorite actor, actress on the screen and they start thinking about becoming an actress. They get inspiration from their favorite actresses and start dreaming to be a bollywood actress.

Now you want be a Bollywood actress but you donâ€™t have enough idea about how to be a bollywood actress!! right? To become be a Bollywood actress it needs more than just a pretty face, height, figure and sizzling beauty. Itâ€™s a long run process, a step by step procedure to success that needs practice, hard work, dedication and above all desire to become a successful actress.

The world of showbiz has an undeniable appeal. You have to fulfill the physical requirements, as well as the perseverance, to become an actress. There are certain qualities which producers look for in Bollywood actress. Some of those qualities which a potential bollywood actress need and master are given below:

To be a Bollywood actress you needs to have good and spotless face and sexy look. You may need to furnish your beauty. You have to be realistic and need to choose what type of acting is perfect for you. Now thing to do is look pretty to the director and producers for that you need to take professional pictures from professional photography studios. They will be able to capture your best features and look.

Now the next thing you need to do is to prepare yourself mentally strong to be a Bollywood actress, if you want to stay in this industry. The struggle is massive and you have to work hard until you get your desired success. You have to make yourself more perfect in communication skills and need to grow right attitude for acting.

How to be bollywood actress? Well you have to speak hindi fluently other wise you will not able to become a Bollywood actress. If able to talk in this language well then you have a good chance to act in the Bollywood movies as an actress. You can improve your hindi language skill by reading

Hindi books or taking tuition from language clubs also watching Bollywood movies. Also you need to be fluent in English because now English is vastly used in Bollywood Movies.

Your dance skill is the most important things Bollywood movies. With out dance no one can be successful in Bollywood as an actress. You must know dance or else you will not get role in any movie. Bollywood actresses are usually gets popularity for their dance performance.

You should know the different types of dances. Try to learn some classical dance like Kathak, Bharatanatyam, Mohiniaattam, Manipupri from the dance club or from classical dance guru. If you can dance well and your acting skills are not up to the mark still there is a possibility to become a Bollywood actress.

There are many Bollywood stars who have risen in Bollywood haven't always had it easy. They have struggled and they have works their backs off to get to this stage. Now if you don't have any connection with the industry or any relative who is already involved in the industry will able to help you to start, you are going to have a very hard time. Then you have to try and see if you have connection in the right places. If you lucky enough then you can get a connection and able to start your acting carrier in Bollywood as an actress.

Wishing you best of luck.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/movies-articles/how-to-become-a-bollywood-actress.htm - Article Side

Nicesamina - About Author:
Samina Rahman, an active writer and blooger, She has published articles about Entertainment, a Top Models, Bangladeshi Model, a Bollywood Actress, Fashion, Travel and Life Style in various popular bloogs and websites. She lives in Dhaka, Bangladesh, with her Family, She likes to travel and watching movies.

Article Keywords:
How to become a bollywood Actress, Bollywood Actress

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!