There are not many things in life that are universal. Many people joke that the only things you can be sure of are death and taxes. Both those are pretty depressing things to be sure of, but they are not the only things. There is something else that is pretty much worldwide, that is essentially universal, and, even better than that, it is enjoyable, invigorating, soulful, beautiful, haunting and just about every other verb you can think of, and that is: music.

There is no one that doesnâ€™t like music, no one that doesnâ€™t have an affinity for music. That is why music is so amazing, it is a binder, it brings people together and makes people smile. It can change moods and it can bring memories to the fore. Music is such a powerful force that it has the ability to change our outlook and change our world. Which is why if you have ever wanted to make music, then you should. It is not a competition, there are no standards, anyone can make music and everyone should. All you need is you and your instrument, so get out there and do it.

Jump online and find a good music store, one that stocks the good stuff. There are heaps of amazing instruments out there. There are Gibson guitars, Jackson guitars, Fender guitars, in fact there are so many good guitars it is mind blowing. Think of the Fender telecaster, or the Gibson Les Paul, or the Epiphone Les Paul, or the Gibson SG. They are all awesome, so if you want one, get it. Grab some Fender amps while you are at it. Maybe you want a bass guitars, get them. They rock.

You might want an electronic drum kit, or a wireless microphone, or a midi keyboard, or a PA system. Whatever it takes to get you playing, get it. Yamaha keyboards and Casio keyboards are awesome to get started on, you can get so many sounds out of them and there is so much you can do.

Make sure you get a good brand, like Behringer and Takamine, as then you will get a great sound and a long life from your instrument.
