Trumpet and its Types by Alex Stewart

Article published on December 20th 2011 | Music

If you want to learn how to play trumpets you have to know the history of trumpets. It was invited by a fisherman date back to 2000 B.C. it is being one of the oldest instrument to date. Trumpets played in early time are made up of different things like in Africa they play to notes. In Amazon trumpets are made up of bark which is 15 to 20 feet long. In Australia they play didgeridoo made up of branches. In some parts trumpets are made up of wood which was eaten by ants. In Asia trumpets are made up of different things like bones, wood, metal and metal.

Now days you will find huge range of trumpets. It is up to you which you want to buy because it depend the amount of money you want to spend. Instruments are the valuable investment to musician. Many people think that the more they spend the better the get but it is not every time in case of trumpets. If you have good knowledge of trumpets you can get best trumpet at fewer prices. Trumpets are wind instruments they are made up of brass tubing where you blow wind to create sound. You can make thousands of sounds from trumpets. There are many types of trumpets are today these are as follow: -

B Key Trumpets: - This is one of the most important trumpets because all most all trumpet players will start with this. It has brass mouthpiece, silver keys and nickel plates. It is not very expensive as compare with other.

Piccolo Trumpets: - This is mostly used in classical music and as name suggested that it is smallest trumpet now days. Its tone is bright because of four valves in it.

Soprano Trumpets: - High key trumpets that comes in the key of G. These are commonly used in army band.

Flugelhorn: - It has mellow sound and used in jazz and pop music.

Slide Trumpets: - This is basically combination of trombone and trumpet. Instead of valves these have slides.

Pocket Trumpets: - This is the smaller model of B trumpets. It produces warm sound and plays the same music in same key. It is good alternative for younger musician that are small to support the size. Those who are looking compact trumpet pocket horn is best choice for them.

Playing trumpets is very good exercise and it is also said that playing music relax the mind and increase the activities of mind. This is proves that those child are involve in music activities their mind is sharp then other. This is also advice that when you are buying trumpet buy care kit along with it because it keep them in good condition and manage them is also easy.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/music-articles/trumpet-and-its-types.htm - Article Side

Alex Stewart - About Author:
Author has had very vast knowledge of musical instrument if you have any question about a trumpet or a trumpets please feel free to contact me at alexstewart1970@gmail.com

Article Keywords:
Trumpet, Trumpets, Trumpets for Sale

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!