

Article Side

Dog Blogs Training Tips – 2 Foundations That Work Behind Dog Training by Charlie McMahon

Article published on December 14th 2011 | Pets

Dog training tips pose a lot of questions among pet owners. They would like to know the foundation behind dog training and why it has been effective for years. Many people would like to know about this.

If you will look at the concept of dog training, it would have two underlying information foundations which make it effective for treating negative behaviors and teaching them tricks. The first one is the concept of conditioning and the second one is habituation.

Habituation is the concept where in the dog or any animal for that matter would start to be familiarized with a certain behavior and do it if needed. Once they are familiarized with the behavior then it will be simple for them to do it if needed. Dog training tips use this as one of the foundations in order to help animals learn a certain behavior that they need to know.

Conditioning is the procedure of introducing a certain behavior for animals. At this point, various stimuli will be introduced in order for animals to be habituated with a certain behavior. Stimuli like sounds and food can be used in order for pets to associate the behavior. Once the stimulus is present, it will help pets understand that they need to do a certain behavior as commanded. This will help people understand why dog training tips are helpful in teaching animals these behaviors.

Stimulus used in conditioning animals to be habituated with a certain action. This is the reason why treats are given together with training and sound command. The concept that works on training pets is they will continue to do a certain behavior since they will get rewards from it. They know that they will get treats from doing a certain command so they will continue to do it. From there on, they will be habituated with both the command and stimulus so it will not be a problem. The good thing about dog training tips is they can be very effective with the help of experts guiding everyone who will need it for their pets.

Countless guides are now found online when it comes to training animals. They come in different types depending on the kind of behavior or tricks owners would like to learn. You can find them online with the help of different websites and even downloadable guides to complete training programs that will be useful for you.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/pets-articles/dog-blogs-training-tips-2-foundations-that-work-behind-dog-training.htm> - Article Side

Charlie McMahon - About Author:

a The Dog Bloggers are one of the top a dog blog and dog product review sites on the web. A community for dogs and the people who love them. We talk about our adventures as dog owners and our favorite products and experiences. We may not be experts here at the dog blog, but we sure do love our pets. We're hopeful that you will find our site useful and educational.

Article Keywords:

dog blog, dog blogs, the dog bloggers, dog bed, dog product review, dog food, dog beds, dog

training, dog leash

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!