If you planning to get Yorkie puppies for yourself as a pet then it would certainly not be a bad idea if you know of things to look for in a Yorkie puppies for sale. When you receive a Yorkie puppy, a patient can be determined quite easily since they are all healthy acts and reacts in the same spirit. All puppies are likely to suffer from the nature of the problem that can give you a hard time learning it so be careful. Finding the healthiest and the best puppy from lots of available options might get a little confusing and at the same time because this breed of dog is starting to get on the health risk over time.

Often, Yorkie breeders bring these puppies up for sale after inspection of the dam and father, to make sure that they have no genetic problems or other health problems, and those who genuinely breeders only. It is very rare for a healthy puppy terrier has genetic problems in the future, but you can find breeders who even offer guarantees healthy Yorkie puppies, so you are fully satisfied.

Be active and mobile first two major characteristics you should see a Yorkie puppies for sale. As a rule, they are a bit slow after the receipt of food or exercise, so it does not really matter, but even eight weeks Yorkie puppy you can see all running and playing, if he or she is healthy. Make the puppy you want to take a little walk, a healthy 8-week will be easy to walk on a flat surface aligned, but may have some problems on uneven ground. Second, make sure the puppy you want to completely react to everything you do or everything that happens around him, to make sure that it is neurologically healthy.

You can find several Yorkie puppies with swollen bellies, it's because there are worms in them. This is not a problem, the worms can be treated and the puppy can be a hundred percent as soon as possible, it just shows that there was no negligence, raising a puppy. If you are a first timer will be for the puppy terrier puppy to avoid that react aggressively or hide when you call, it would get very hard to train them. Finally, just do a check on the puppy's ears, if they are all clean and wax, because it creates bacteria and puts at risk the health of the puppy.
