Article published on November 29th 2011 | Pets

A doggie day care facility can be a fantastic place to leave your dog in, especially if you have an urgent need to leave your dog someplace where you can find trustworthy service. However, before you do that, ensure that you keep these pointers in mind:

During an emergency â€“

One of the most important points is to make sure the doggie daycare facility has a vet who can be reached 24/7 in case of an emergency in the facility. This is probably one of the best ways to make sure your doggie day care facility is well provided for any time of the day.

Hygiene and overall cleanliness â€“

This is another very important aspect of a doggie daycare facility. Since your dog is going to be spending a long time here, you want to be sure that the doggie day care facility is clean, hygienic and peaceful at all times. You need to go there and give the doggie day care facility a surprise visit and make sure the food and water that is served is fresh and is served at regular intervals, too.

Your budget â€“

Almost all of us have a budget, but you should also know that you are going to be getting what you pay for with doggie daycare services. Therefore, do not invest too much or too little in the doggie day care centre. You will find that many doggie day care facilities are very expensive; therefore, it is necessary to do your research to find one which is the right price. They are more expensive during the holiday season, so make sure you find out which doggie day care facility is expensive and why this is so. Do not opt for the cheapest one either, because your dogâ€™s safety and comfort should be in the front of your mind. It is good to double check the services offered before you decide to leave your dog at the doggie day care so that you get everything which you are paying for.

With all these pointers in mind, make sure that you take your time and visit at least three or four doggie day care facilities before selecting one.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/pets-articles/only-the-best-doggie-daycare-for-your-pup.htm - Article Side

Jercyjohn - About Author:

Petsitting.com is an innovative website connecting pet owners with professional pet service providers. This site allows pet owners to search for pet care providers close to where they live, and is 100% free for the consumer. Services currently offered include:

a Pet Sitting a Cat sitting

Article Keywords:
Doggie DayCare

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!