Article Side

London canvas prints by Andrew Bourke

Article published on June 6th 2012 | Photography

The city of London is a very beautiful place, itâ€™s a place that not only has the drive of the country in terms of business but it is actually a very beautiful place to visit to. There is lots of different types of brilliant canvas prints that you can get from London and you can have a variety of cool and quirky buildings in the picture to.

A couple of different buildings you could have printed onto canvas would be big Ben for starters, this is a brilliant way to show style and fashion at the same time as you could have the big clock in the background and have a famous traditional London red bus going across the bridge that is just before it, I have come across a canvas print picture that is similar to this that that the same layout but they have colour splashed the bus to stay in red and the rest of the photo is black and white which basically makes the red bus stand right out which has a very stylish look to it.

Another very famous landmark from London that you can have printed on canvas would be Buckingham palace. This is a very beautiful building of royalty that can take pride on your wall as a canvas art print. This even on any normally day looks very good indeed but if youâ€™re a collector of the queens memorabilia then having some canvas photo prints made from some of the famous moment in her life could be very appealing to you, especial with the diamond jubilee going on at the moment with celebrations that that.

One building that looks really great and different that you can have printed would be the Gherkin, this building looks brilliant just as it is but if you have the canvas print made so that there is some kind of effect going over the finish before the canvas has been printed on then this would make it look that little more special, maybe even a black and white canvas print of this building would look really great to, and last but not least if you was to try and get a really cool looking canvas photo print of the London eye you could have a really great looking colour splash effect added to the image itself before actually going to print, your could have certain parts of the image in black and white and have little parts of the wheel or carriages in colour, or even if you had like a sepia look instead of the black and white style, there is other colours to choose from when you want to go for a different type of overall look on your canvas print. You could have a purple tint to the canvas print or a red tint, basically any colour of the rainbow as a tint over the finish of the canvas to give your picture a very unique and stylish look which separates your amazing canvas art from the rest.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/photography-articles/london-canvas-prints.htm - Article Side

Andrew Bourke - About Author:
a canvas photo

Article Keywords:
canvas, canvas prints, canvas printing, canvas print, prints, print canvas, prints canvas, printing canvas, canvas photo, photo canvas, canvas photo printing, canvas photo print, canvas photo prints, canvas photos, photo on canvas

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!