Ways to show off your work with canvas prints by Andrew Bourke

Article published on March 9th 2012 | Photography

Did you know that there is a very good visual way that you can show of your artwork and other types of work to, this would be having some canvas printing done of your work and you can ten showcase your work I a way that would enhance the look of it and get more people interested in it.

You could use canvas photo printing for any type of images and any sort of work, so just for example letâ€™s say you have some food dishes that you want to sell and you donâ€™t really want to sho simple photos of the food and you of course donâ€™t want to show the food itself because it will go cold so to get a more 3d effect going on you could snap up some really high resolution images that look really share and get some canvas prints made up from them and then your work will look amazing. Just think having your work printed onto canvas then stretched over a real wooden frame has a very unique and different feel to it and that along will draw in peopleâ€™s eyes.

You can pretty much use canvas prints for any different jobs and interior design work to, a good idea for a housing business that sell houses is to have designs printed on canvas then you could have those hung up in the show houses and not only that but you could also show of the houses them selfâ€™s to the people that will be browsing so they can get a feel of what the house looks finished in a normal street, so having canvas prints can go a long way and with having your work printed on canvas it gives your work a big art look to that makes everyone feel something special inside when they see it.

Now of course the obvious main subject to showing of your work would be having your own actual paintings printed on canvas and going for this option is always going to be very popular for many reasons, one big reason would be that the canvas printer that prints your art onto canvas are really made for printing high quality photos on canvas so that is where you can benefit as when the printer prints your art to canvas it will pick at all the details from your original painting and you will end up with an exact replica canvas print of your painting which is out of this world brilliant, you would even be able to see ever brush stroke so that when you want to get the best possible canvas print of your artwork you not only get the print right but you also get the beautiful finish that you would normally get from a canvas that you would have originally bought from a shop as a blank canvas as canvas prints are stretched around stretcher bar frames which is very similar to what you blank canvas would be stretched around so you end up with the same effect and the same artwork print which would be very hard to tell the difference unless you ran your fingers across both of them and thatâ€™s way having canvas prints made from your work is a very good idea.
