Free Photo Sharing Sites – Get Benefited By Phantomd

Article published on June 15th 2012 | Politics

Photo sharing is turning out to be the convenient method with the help of which we can share our photos to anyone located in any part of the world. With the popularity of this concept, many free photo sharing sites are emerging these days. Therefore, selection of the best site for sharing of photos is turning out to be the great challenge among the internet users. There are some of the best sites offering great benefits that are discussed below:

Some of the best websites offer the user with the facility of uploading file of up to 20 MB size and there is no limit for uploads in these sites. The user can upload any number of photos and they also offer the facility of unlimited downloads. The most important feature offered by some of the best sites is that the photos downloaded from these sites are 100% free from Adware and malware. If this protection is not offered, it is better not to go for that site for photo sharing since it might create risk to the computer itself.

Some of these sites also offer the facility of hotlinking and from these sites user can upload files with .jpg, .png, .bmp and .gif extensions. In these sites, the users can upload photos from their computer or they can also upload files from other websites by providing the link of the website in the select file box offered in these sites.

The reason behind the popularity of online image sharing is that it takes just a few minutes for uploading and downloading images from these sites and previously for sharing photos with friends and relatives, internet users were relying upon emails, but with these image sharing sites, online image sharing has become easier these days. Even before the introduction of emails, people were sending photos through normal mail, which took some days for reaching the intended person. Free image sharing sites has made this task easier that too in seconds.

Some people might think that when using free photo sharing websites, there are chances of other people viewing the photos. But, the fact is that the photos shared using these sites can be viewed only by people, who have link for the album of the person sharing the photos. So, now photos of wedding and other special occasions can be shared with loved ones without paying any amount that too within seconds with the help of these sharing sites.
