How to Choose a Fortune Teller Online

by Bob Andrews

Article published on January 4th 2012 | Psychology

If you're thinking of consulting an online fortune teller but you've never done so before, you probably began with a simple net search and found literally thousands of psychics and readers advertising their services. How do you choose a fortune teller that's right for you?

Why Do You Want To Consult A Fortune Teller?

Fortune tellers offer various types of divination or psychic services to help clients gain insight into their everyday life problems. Naturally, you know the practical side of your life better than anyone else, but with a fortune teller's help you can get a look at the spiritual elements that might be affecting your situation. This knowledge might help you with the decisions you must make when changing your life for the better.

You might have less serious reasons for going to a fortune teller. Maybe you just want to see what's in the stars, or the cards, the way a lot of people check their horoscope in the daily paper. You're not necessarily going to act on what you find out, but it's something that's nice to know.

What Kind of Fortune Teller Do You Need?

Not all fortune tellers are psychics. Psychics use ESP to gather information from the unseen world. They may channel messages from angels or other helpful beings, or they may be mediums who help your friends and relatives who have died, get in touch with you from the other side. Any advice given to you by a psychic should be evaluated for its common sense and practical applicability. If you choose a fortune teller who is psychic, the best are those who do not need a lot of information from you before giving you information that you recognize and know to be accurate as well as useful.

Many fortune tellers use divination, such as tarot or angel cards, rune stones, astrology or numerology. Plenty of readers who are not psychic can get excellent results for you using these methods.

Astrology and numerology reveal a kind of map of who you are as an individual. By understanding yourself, you can learn more about other people and situations and make better decisions.

Cards and rune stones operate on the principle of chance. The stones or cards chosen and laid out in a framework of meaning -- past, present and future, for instance -- are supposed to represent a kind of scale model of reality as it is at that moment.

The use of random chance is one of the oldest methods of divination. Some fortune tellers still use older methods like seashells, sand reading or the highly respected I Ching. No psychic ability is needed for divination, although psychics certainly use divination for additional intuitive information.

Finding a Good Fortune Teller Online

Ask your friends which fortune tellers they consult. Ask them about types of readings they've gotten, prices and results. Take your time to go over the many websites offering psychic advice and divination. Most will have brief profiles of their fortune tellers and a description of what kind of services each provides, along with prices.

The first three or four minutes of your first session are usually free, giving you an opportunity for a brief "interview" of the fortune teller you choose. You may wish to visit several websites and talk with different psychics and readers to find the one who is just right for you.

Fortune tellers predict future tendencies in order to give you an opportunity to make decisions and changes for the better. You are in control -- your choices are always the most important factor in your life. choose a fortune teller who helps you keep this in mind as she works with you.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/psychology-articles/how-to-choose-a-fortune-teller-online.htm - Article Side

Bob Andrews - About Author:
Separating fact from fiction when it comes to how to a choose a fortune teller, Bob Andrews is inherently curious about psychology and how we perceive the world. When investigating the paranormal he usually checks out the experts at a http://www.kasamba.com.

Article Keywords:
choose a fortune teller

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!