Article Side

Rafting in Rishikesh

by Real Adventure Guru

Article published on December 20th 2011 | Recreation

Thrill and excitement awaits every traveler who dares to paddle and shout through the White Water Rafting in Rishikesh , Uttrakhand, India. Rishikesh is hot spot for river rafting. Rishikesh is well known Hindu pilgrim center. For every year thousands of pilgrims start their chardham yatra tours form here. Now Rishikesh is emerging as hot picnic spot for river rafting and camping. The main places from where river rafting begins are Shivpuri and Kaudiyala. These two places have developed for rafting and camping activity. Adventurous people come here for enjoying river rafting and camping. The most attraction is White water rafting. White water rafting is fun, exciting, dangerous and now Rishikesh has placed itself firmly on the map as the place to do it. From past on decade white water rafting has become a sport that has grown rapidly year on year. Places such as Kaudiyala and Shivpuri in Rishikesh, Uttarakhand, India are now home to thousands of tourists and experienced rafters alike who take to the water each year.

With river rafting comes more than just adventure, there is the risk of injury as well. That is why anyone who is new to the sport must understand the risks that are involved every time you enter a raft. Steering in and out of obstacles also means that you run the risk of collisions, so it is essential that you understand the importance of wearing a life jacket and as well as a safety helmet. It is usually the case that rapids are given a rating between 1-6 for how complicated they are, so remember and start low before working your way up. Rapid grade 1 is the lowest and would be suitable for children and beginners, whilst a more experienced rafter may be able to take the challenge of a rapid classed as 6. These are described below.

Class I - This indicates that the river does not have dangerous rapids and beginners may venture on it with confidence. If you are a beginner or are not very familiar with the waters try a river rafting adventure on this type of river at first.

Class II - This indicates some fast rapids and channels which will require basic skill to be able to sail through them safely; only pick a river rafting adventure through these waters after you have practiced a few times in Class I waters.

Class III - This classification indicates some difficult currents and white waters through which one will not make it easily without previous experience in such waters. If you have never been through a Class III river rafting and still would like to try it out, do not proceed without an experienced guide.

Class IV - When rafting is given this classifications waters are expected to have both high torrents and relaxing stretches, which will require some expertise to handle successfully. Choose a river rafting adventure in these waters only if you have previous rafting experience.

Class V - The Class V river rafting waters are to be tackled only by an expert in river rafting; the currents will be high as well as the difficult to maneuver through the channels. This type of river rafting adventure will provide a thrilling experience.

Class VI - These types of waters are only advised for the masters in rafting and those who are addicted to real life thrills. The waters are dangerous and will not forgive anyone who makes the slightest mistake.

White water rafting can be a dangerous sport, especially if basic safety precautions are not observed. Like most outdoor sports, river rafting in general has become safer over the years. Expertise in the sport has increased, and equipment has become more specialized and increased in quality. As a result the difficulty rating of most river runs has changed.

Our rafting guides experienced, to get you on the fly, without harm. You will be mixed and administered, as you paddle through the heart pounding rapids, like a Roller Coaster, Golf Course, Club house, Initiation, Double Trouble and Hilton. For beginners to white water rafting, trips are nine km of the river form Shivpuri to Rishikesh seems longer, but certainly interesting.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/recreation-articles/rafting-in-rishikesh.htm - Article Side

Real Adventure Guru - About Author:
Real Adventure Guru is providing servicesa Beach Camps and a Ganga Beach in rishikesh

Article Keywords:
caming in rishikesh,rafting in rishikesh,white water in rishikesh,Jungle camping in rishikesh

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!