Article published on March 13th 2012 | Recreation

How about having Indian delicacies like Malai Kofta, Dal Makhni, Paneer Butter Masala and Butter Chicken along with a plate of Rice Pulao and gulp it down with a drink of your choice in London? No, it wonâ€™t sound surprising to anyone living in London because these are readily available in restaurant London that serves Indian food. Moreover, you can enjoy such delicacies amidst some lovely company. As per Indian tradition, there is great charm in enjoying food with good company. Restaurants London offer a kind of ambience where you can relish your food and have fun too in a truly Indian style.

The simplest way to experience the flavours of India is to get into a restaurant London where you will find an array of great Indian cuisines. For those who like to finish off their meal with a good drink then there are nice cocktails too. People traveling from India to London may think that they wonâ€™t be able to relish Indian food there since it is a foreign place for them. They may lament that during their stay there they will have to live on pastas and burgers instead of their usual dal, roti and sabzi (vegetable curry). That is not true. You will definitely get authentic Indian food in London.

London is a city that has got everything. If at any point of time you get fed up munching burgers and French fries then just drop into any of those restaurants London where you will get a variety of Indian foods. You can choose from vegetarian and non-vegetarian options too. Indian meals as a matter of fact are appetizing and also sumptuous. There are some amazing dishes and once you have those you will keep on asking for more. Moreover, Indian dishes are categorized according to different regions of the country. Therefore, you will find north Indian food, south Indian food and so on. Enjoy!

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/recreation-articles/restaurants-london-serving-the-best-indian-dishes.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a restaurants london, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a restaurant london!

Article Keywords:
restaurants london, restaurant london

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!