The Four Best Restaurants in London by Julia Roger

Article published on March 14th 2012 | Recreation

Food is an everyday affair in our lives. Wherever your location is, you find restaurants all around to pacify your appetite. Suppose you are abroad for some purpose, let us say you are in London. In such a scenario, apart from arranging for your accommodation out there the next thing that will come to your mind is your food. Now your concern probably is to find the best restaurant in London.

London is a cosmopolitan city with lots of amenities to suite your preferences and with a proper investigation regarding food you are likely to arrive at the best restaurant in London. This article will serve as your guide and highlight the four best restaurants in London. Here is the list for your reference:

1) Hawks moor Seven Dials

You will find this restaurant located near 11 Langley Road in the Coventry Garden. This one is a truly amazing restaurant with a century old look. The shocking revelation is that the restaurant was launched towards the end of 2010.

2) Hereford Road

Today British cuisine is quite popular and this was not the case until 1997. Tom Pemberton was one of the pioneers to bring British cuisine into notice with this restaurant. Located on 3 Hereford Road, this restaurant specializes in British cooking for its customers. In addition, they change the menu regularly on a daily basis.

3) Le Gavroche

Le Gavroche is a classy restaurant having some awards to its credit. It is located in the heart of Mayfair. Here you will relish some of the best French food.

4) Mezzanine restaurant

This restaurant has some of the best seasonal Modern European catering to talk about. It is located on the Southbank and inside the renowned National Theater.

Therefore, these are some of the best restaurants in London for you to give a try if you like.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/recreation-articles/the-four-best-restaurants-in-london.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a best restaurant in london, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a best restaurants in london!

Article Keywords:
best restaurant in london,best restaurants in london

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!