Article published on May 1st 2012 | Recreation

Facing difficulty to find a suitable stag destination? Why donâ€™t you opt for bratislava stags and hen party in this Slovakian capital city is famous among bachelors from central Europe. It is one of the best locations available for stag weekend outing purpose. This remarkable city features plenty of excitement and activities to enjoy during stag outing. The city is one of the most important cultural, economic, and political zones of Slovakia.

It is necessary to plan properly while arranging for a weekend in bratislava. Never try to visit this place during winter season. Winters are extremely cold with temperature falling below freezing point. Summers are quite humid but nights are cool and pleasant. The best time to visit Bratislava is either in between April â€“ May or Sep â€“ October. These four months are considered to be the most comfortable and ideal ones for tourists to enjoy touring this wonderful city. Period from June till August is extremely hot and humid. Not a favorable time to visit. Then again, period from November till March is also not favorable due to shivering cold.

The city is well connected internationally through air and rail. The Letisko Bratislava is the major international airport of Slovakia. It is located approximately nine km northeastern part of city center. Rail services are available for Russia, Hungary, Germany, Poland, Belarus, Czech Republic, Ukraine, Serbia, Croatia, and lot more to name. There is also water transport facility available. D1 & A6 motorways are two of the major highways for road transport.

Once stepped into Bratislava, you will find several local travel agencies organizing city tour. It is always better to approach local travel agencies to cultivate and visit the landmarks of this city. The city accommodates numerous historical structures, museums, parks, art galleries, and lakes.
