Forums constitute an important part of numerous Chinese dating sites. That is one place where people share their experiences and seek advice from others who â€œhave been there and done thatâ€•. In facts, forums are the place that makes people engaged in similar endeavors a community and their significance cannot be undermined.

However, it is not a good idea to spend too much time on these forums talking about every little episode or confrontation between you and the Chinese ladies youâ€™re dating. Trust me, no relationship, online or offline is without its own problems but if you start posting your relationship problems online you will shoot yourself in the foot. With all the different points of views the other forum members reply with, you will simply go crazy.

There is no dearth of stuck-up guys on forums who behave as if they know everything under the sun about Chinese women and go to great lengths to impress upon their ideas on less enlightened souls. However, each Chinese women is unique and quite unlike any other manâ€™s girlfriend or wife. The things that worked for them may not work for you.

Relationships problems while Chinese dating is not uncommon. If you get upset over something, it is best to sleep over it before discussing it with your Chinese girlfriend. You may feel differently about it next day with a clear head.

Never write an email when you are angry. Once you press the â€œsentâ€• things wonâ€™t be same again ever. Wait until youâ€™ve thought about things and put them in perspective. For more common issues, searching on Google or forums to see what others have to say about the issue is not a bad idea as long as you make up your own mind and not blindly follow what others are saying or doing.
