Missing Someone to Let More Closer by Mukesh Kumar

Article published on June 4th 2012 | Relationship

Friendship day was first celebrated in the year 1958, in one of the South American countries, Paraguay. Gradually the tradition grew and became a worldwide fest. The reason of the revival of this day can be majorly accounted due to the emergence of social networking sites. These sites gave a chance for the older and long forgotten friends to meet on a common platform, and thus gave a reason for celebration. Even if the people meeting have not been very good friends or have met each other only once or twice, but have longed to meet or a chance to talk, the combination of friendship day and the platform of the networking sites, provides them the perfect opportunity.

Friendship provides a very good reason for meeting the long forgotten friends, and also gives a chance for the new once to meet; it also gives a chance for the concurrent friendships to revive, which might had been taken for granted in the day to day mundane life. Two friends now have an opportunity to express their friendship, but now the task at hand is the means of expression. Friendship day cards, friendship day gifts are such means provided by the consumer industry today. People do not need to spend lot of time pondering as to what to gift or how to convey their affection and feelings towards their friends. An easy method of conveying the concern is by the friendship day sms. It is the simplest method on which almost everyone relies.

Friendship day not only brings together the friends but also it gives a chance to get closer to your crushes. You now are given a formal chance to get connected to them whom you secretly desire to be close to. And if you are smart enough, you can easily capitalize this opportunity to get closer to them show your concern towards them and then making them understand your feelings. A friendship day poem could be a very good chance for you in such a case. If you are a good writer, you could easily make your emotions display on a piece of paper. If not, then also thereâ€™s no reason to be worried. You could seek help from a friend, or your best friend Google.

Friends, lovers, love seekers acquaintances, for whom you are concerned, friendship day is the perfect means to convey your feelings and let them know that you are there for them in their tough times. They have a shoulder to lie on when they need it. Whether the friendship is through internet, phone, you met them on train, or through a networking site, friendship day provides to you the perfect opportunity, to show, that whether the relationship is virtual, but the feelings and the concern you possess for the person is real. And the fact there is someone to take care of you is in itself the greatest gift that one could seek. Make friends and keep them close. You have the opportunity and the means, all you have to do is courage and will to convey.
