Article Side

Design Your Own Holiday Cards to Mail

by John Welsh

Article published on January 20th 2012 | Religion

The ease of sending e-cards has vastly affected the age-old custom of sending and receiving holiday cards in the post. Shopping for cards to send as well as checking your mailbox for cards was all part of the celebrations that added to the excitement. Hand-written post cards are personal and hold more value, both to the sender and the receiver. It ignites a special bond between loved ones that were far away and wish to be together. These can be used on personal basis as well as in the corporate world.

Personalize Cards with Your Designs

Personalized holiday cards are a great way to revive the tradition with a more personal touch. These types of cards offer a uniqueness that cannot be found at a regular card shop. You get to create your own designs and texts to completely customize post cards to suit your receiver. You can even choose your photo as the front cover of the card. You also get to select additional designs, color schemes of your choice and personalized words that are your own. Once you have sent your order online for the preferred card, the company will create it especially for you, and have it sent to you. Sending you holiday cards makes your loved one feel extra special.

Unique Holiday Cards for All

By personalizing holiday cards, you donâ€™t have to send the same type of cards to all your contacts. You donâ€™t have to send the same card to your favorite grandpa as well as to your not-so-favorite aunt. Moreover, sending the same pre-designed loses its importance, especially if your aunt happens to visit your grandpa.

Furthermore, designing your own cards is a very entertaining task. You can mix and match patterns, colors, photos and other design templates and call it your own creation. Your dear ones will be overjoyed to receive a card that you took time in creating it especially for them.

Personalized post cards donâ€™t have to be for the holiday season only; design them for birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, get-well-soon cards, corporate invitations and any other occasions that are special to you and those who matter the most.

How Card Companies Work

The order for post cards are processed, created and shipped out at the earliest possible. You can track your order using the tracking number provided. In the event of dissatisfaction or defect, some online card companies offer the option of returning your order free of cost. Read their services to compare how each company functions. Choose the one that offers value for money.

When you revive the tradition of sending cards by sending it yourself first, you will be surprised at the number of cards you will receive in return. Those who love you the most will take time to prepare you one of the special personalized holiday cards.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/religion-articles/design-your-own-holiday-cards-to-mail.htm - Article Side

John Welsh - About Author:
John Welsh provides the more information about a Photo Birth Announcements & a Birthday Invitations that how to choose a better cards for friends & family at occasion. For more info: - http://www.postcardsandinvitions.com

Article Keywords:
Photo Birth Announcements Cards, Graduation Invitations, Photo Wedding Invitations, Thank You Cards, Save The Date Cards

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!