Not everyone has the need for a car. There are lots of people who would be content to either commute or just walk to wherever they are going. However, there are times when you really need a car for a certain amount of time. It could be for various reasons like being assigned on a distant work assignment for a certain period of time. In situations like this, you really need a car so it would be more convenient for you to get to and from work. There could be a lot more reasons why you would need a car on a temporary basis.

If you want to be able to use a car but you do not want the responsibility of having to sell it when you no longer need it then car leasing is the option for you. Car leasing is not like buying a car, it is almost the same as renting a car. In car leasing, you get to use the car for a longer period of time. Most car leases have a minimum term of 1 year but this may depend on the conditions of the leasing company.

Leasing a car is a very convenient option because you get to use the car for a while but you do not have to worry about selling it when you no longer need it. Selling a used car is very troublesome because there is no assurance that you will be able to dispose of it right away. It may take months before you will be able to sell it. When the car gets sold, you will not be able to get all of your money back because the value of the car has greatly depreciated. Even if you the car for just a year its value will be greatly diminished.

Leasing a car is also a better option because the monthly payments are lower. You do not have to invest a huge amount of money to be able to use the car. The payments are less because you will not own the car at the end of the term. Your monthly lease payments will only cover for the use of the car while it is under lease to you. When you lease a car, you no longer have to worry about being able to pay your monthly dues for the lease because they are not that expensive. Leasing a car is the most convenient way to own a car albeit temporarily.
