Article published on January 19th 2012 | Seo

The rule of thumb in Website Hosting SEO is making every site SEO compatible. It ensures that the site is capable of attracting search engine spiders that rank it online as well as human visitors who improve the web traffic.

To promote a single money site on the web an army of websites are built and hosted over unique Class C IPs. All the IPs come from different C Class range and blocks in order to discourage the search engine spiders from sneaking deeply into the underlying relationship about all the sites.

Multiple websites linking to a single site offering back links is a great idea, but getting caught up due a common owner, certainly degrades the value of the money sites along with the supporting sites. At the end all of them may get banned and penalized, which would disrupt the business and incur heavy losses.

For web hosting SEO, organically each of the site is optimized and then only SEO Hosting is done for them. White hat SEO or organic SEO is responsible to optimize the graphics and content of the website. Apart from that the keyword density and use of scripting pages is observed. The keyword must not be stuffy and boring, content need to be easy and informative, whereas the optimized picture would save so much server space and promote fast loading sites.

The page flow is optimized, Meta and Alt Tags need to be placed in such a way that every search term of that niche must drag this site for online SERPs; improving the PR in the long run. Successful white hat SEO offers easy way to allow the search spiders crawl properly and load the pages faster than expected.

SEO hosting begins after the white hat process is completed; but remember that all your sites need interesting topics in them not useless things. Rich content automatically gets high ranks on article sites and can divert visitors from there towards the money site.

SEO hosting offers all the websites to get maximum online exposure and then streamline the link value of individual sites towards the money site. It increases the overall ranking of the money making site and features in on the top of leading SERPs. Getting featured at the top certainly calls for more audience to have a look to it, as a result the sites gets popular on the targeted niche.

Class C IPs, SEO hosting servers and the various SEO Hosting tricks make a winning combination and drive the PR northward. At the end your money site gets the ultimate online response; popularity, brand promotion, inbound traffic and great revenues with the best PR are all set to increase the business multifold.

Vital data in SEO hosting needs a secure environment and the VPS and dedicated server would happily help to deal the issue and achieve the goal.
