Thereâ€™s nothing more important than protecting your feet whether hitting the blacktop for some street ball or dominating with crossovers in front of screaming fans. When considering the amount of pavement being pounded time after time, one realizes how much of a toll is taken on the body with a large degree of high impact.

Millennium Shoes carries the best basketball sneakers infused with premium technology to ensure that any future hall-of-famer or recreational b-ball player is equipped with the ultimate support. The Menâ€™sâ€™ basketball shoes in stock include a variety of options from the top brands in the market.

Nike Flywire, commonly seen in the Nike Basketball Elite Series, provides lightweight composition along with flexible strength.Reebok Pump highlighted in the Omni Lite, debuted back in 1989 and to this day delivers a custom fit few shoes have been able to duplicate or improve upon.ClimaCool by adidasfound in the Crazy Cool ensure pure breathability and ventilation from the upper to the sole to dissipate moisture accrued from hours of shooting hoop. With a healthy selection of top brands of basketball shoes carried, hardcore ballers can always depend on Millennium Shoes to gain that extra edge over the competition.

Amongst the common household names of on-the-court kicks, Air Jordan basketball sneakers triumphs, being in high demand and bought off the shelves within minutes of releasing. All Star Chuck Taylors by Converse are a popular choice for those that like to keep things old-school with the basketball sneaker that started it all. On that note, Millennium Shoes is also host to PF Flyers with a cache of Center Hiâ€™s that were made famous via their cameo on the cult classic movie â€œThe Sandlotâ€•. PF Flyers are forever etched in basketball history being the first ever shoes to be endorsed by a professional player. Such accomplishments have been taken further with champions of today and their own signature shoes like the Reebok Question for Allen Iverson, Nike Air Penny for Penny Hardaway, and of course the entire Jordan brand legacy for Michael Jordan.

With the increase of spotlight on basketball shoes, one can be sure to catch the latest releases that have visual appeal in addition to performance-enhancing attributes.
