Article published on August 7th 2012 | Shopping

Likely you have a candle in a jar sitting on your coffee table or dining room. You enjoy the warmth of the candlelight and the smell of scented candles but the candle in a jar isn't doing anything for your decor. Instead choose something like Mercury glass candlesticks for your centerpieces. These have beautiful detail and have an extra sparkle to them that other candlesticks don't. The mercury glass candlesticks will add interest and flair to your dining room table or coffee table.

Most homes have mirrors in several locations as well. The bathroom, the fireplace, and the bedroom all likely have mirrors but these are often just slabs of mirror glass. You can improve the look of these rooms by adding Venetian wall mirrors. Venetian wall mirror have intricate detail and are available in many different styles. You can choose a special mirror for each room that will serve the function but will also add unique detail to the room.

Another place to consider upgrading to more special pieces is your lighting. The lighting fixtures that are in many homes can be very bland. You can add things like floral chandeliers to update the look and add interest. Unique lighting fixtures can make a huge different in how a room looks. You will be surprised at how different the home looks from making this small change.

You can also look to the pictures you have around your home to add more style as well. You may have pictures that are in aging or boring frames. It is quite easy to find unique frames with special details. You frames will not only serve to show off pictures of your loved ones but they will also show your style and add interest in the room.

One important thing to note when you are looking for these pieces is to stay away from the home decorating stores. In these stores they have a lot of items but most are cheaply made. It is also likely that you will see these items in other peoples home and this will not give your home the unique look that you are after. Look for small boutiques and stores with handmade items instead.

You do not need to be a designer to achieve great style in your home. All you need to do is take the everyday boring pieces that are around your home and replace them with unique and special items.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/beautiful-home-decorating-items-from-casuallyeleganthome.htm - Article Side

Glubber Shaw - About Author:
For more information do visit: a CasuallyElegantHome

Article Keywords:
mercury glass candlesticks, venetian wall mirrors

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!