Better Advertise with Highlighter Pens by John Faulkner

Article published on April 4th 2012 | Shopping

Promotional highlighter pens are an interesting way to promote your business to customers. Unlike standard pens, highlighters are not as often used as promotional tools. Because of this, they are considered more unique by customers and usually kept more frequently. Unfortunately, highlighters do not have as many general purpose uses as a standard ballpoint pen. Because of this, highlighters are often selected by businesses as promotional tools when having the ability to highlight could be useful. Situations where highlighters are useful include business conventions and large meetings with a lot of pre-printed materials. Evaluate the circumstances of your next big event or promotion before you decide whether or night highlighter pens are right for you.

If you decide promotional highlighter pens are a good choice for your business, there are several things that you will need to keep in mind. First, not all highlighters are created equal. Like pens, there are high quality and low quality highlighters. Low quality highlighters have poor consistency, thin distribution of colour and will run out of fluid quickly. These types of highlighters are typically crafted of low quality plastics and run risk of cracking. They will not last as long as compared to higher quality highlighters. On the other hand, high quality highlighters are more expensive and are made of higher quality materials. The fluid in these highlighters will last longer. Often, you will have a wider range of colours and tip sizes that you can choose from. Cheaper highlighters have the flaw of often drying out far sooner than their higher quality counterparts. It will be up to you to decide how much a long lasting highlighter is for your needs. You will also have the choice between smaller highlighters, designed for only short term use, or larger highlighters that are intended for long use. These choices can all alter how effective your advertising campaigns are.

When you purchase promotional highlighter pens, it is important that you are selective about what customizations go onto the pens. The customizations are the primary factor of how effective your branding efforts are. All factors, ranging from the text, font size and font colour, can make a significant difference in how people react to your pens. When you are selecting the customizations for your pens, it is important that you consider your target audience carefully. If you are advertising for the general public, you will often have a little more room for creativity in your designs. However, if your primary customer base is business men and women, you will want to be careful to ensure that your customizations are professional. This is one of the few ways that you can ensure that your pens may find use by this market of individuals. Adapting your business towards the needs of your target audience is extremely important, especially as there are so many people who want to advertise to the same people that you do. Every decision you make should be done trying to ensure that you do not drive away your customer base.
