Cremation Jewelry-Beautifying Your Look by Kent Wrotham

Article published on January 2nd 2012 | Shopping

The death of a loved one leaves one in misery and agony. The loss is immeasurable. Despair, anxiety and worry increases. One needs to take courage and face the situation bravely. The ashes are collected and usually kept in urns. But how does one keep the fondest memories together with them always? The ashes are usually immersed in holy rivers. Cremation jewelry has come to the rescue of many.

Cremation jewelry is a unique kind of design where the ashes of the loved one can be kept in it. This gives a special feeling, the close being of the person.

Cremation jewelry- Simply put, it is a special form of jewelry designed with a compartment in which a little portion of the ashes (a very small quantity) can be kept in it. It is then sealed by a plug or a slotted screw.

Different types of jewelry are made from pendants to bracelets. Pendants with compartments come in various shapes such as heart, cross, oval, rounded, or even with a photo of the loved one engraved on it. Instead of the ashes, the locked hairs too can be kept in it.

The ashes of the person are kept in special urns. Hence this jewelry is also known as Urn Jewelry. They are available in gold and silver.

With the passage of time, cremation jewelry has taken a step ahead. Not everyone, would love to put this kind, where a little ash is kept sealed in it. More sophisticated kind is the jewelry made by infusing some portion of the ashes into the metal itself. Two companies , one of US and another of UK have come up with this .A range of chunky ornaments from earrings, pendants, signets and rings have been made. The UK Company is Mark and the American is Ashes.

Chunky Cremation Pendant is made of different colors. The different designs can be clearly seen through the glass. It looks elegant. It is available in five different colours. It is made using a patented process of fusing. Each piece is a different one because as the ashes are absorbed they create tiny bubbles of carbon dioxide and the light plays on these. So each is a unique piece.

Jewelry is something which is very close to our hearts. We invest a huge sum of money on diamond, platinum and other kinds of ornaments. So investing on this kind of jewelry, a small sum for a pendant may be a good idea, isnâ€™t it? It keeps the loved one forever with you .A special remembrance of a special person.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/cremation-jewelry-beautifying-your-look.htm - Article Side

Kent Wrotham - About Author:
The site offers you an opportunity to keep the memories of your beloved pet close to your heart with the help of a Urn Jewelry. These are also available in various designs and fashion. You can also wear it as a a Cremation Jewelry.

Article Keywords:
urn jewelry, cremation jewelry, cremation pendant, ashes and diamonds, Keepsake Jewelry, remembrance jewelry, Pet Memorials, pet cremation jewelry, ashes pendant, memorial pendant, cremation memorial, cremation pendants, ashes pendants

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!