Find out How You Can Customize Your Collar Stays for Added Panache by Alyssa Kelsey

Article published on December 10th 2011 | Shopping

If you are tired of ironing and fighting with unruly collars on your shirts, then you need a full set of Collar Stays. Collar stays are a very simple, effective and professional way to keep your collars laying flat, looking crisp and clean at all times. Collar stays come in a variety of materials, which can include white vinyl, brushed and polished titanium, brushed and polished stainless steel as well as 24 karat gold plated brass. Collar stays are an incredibly simple and easy way to keep your shirt collars looking professional at all times. Because your shirt frames your face, it is very important for you to have a good-looking shirt to make the best impression possible.

Many dress shirts come with a pair of flimsy plastic collar stays, and these should ideally be removed and thrown away. The reason for this is because the first time you wash your shirt, you will either likely lose these small plastic collar stays, or they will become warped and subsequently useless. In addition, plastic collar stays do not eliminate the need for ironing, because if the plastic collar stay is sewn into your shirt collar, over time it will become misshapen and deformed from washing, drying and ironing. Perhaps the best type of collar stays is metal or vinyl, because they provide additional weight to your collar, to keep it lying flat at all times. There are many different manufacturers available of collar stays, but the best collar stays manufacturers will offer a complete range of sizes in 2, 2.5, 2.75 as well as 3 inches. This incredible array of lengths for your collar stays ensures that you have the right size collar stay for every shirt in your wardrobe.

In addition, you can also purchase men's collar stays in gift sets, which include an organizer, eight pairs of collar stays in varying lengths as well as a wall-mounted organizer. This wall-mounted organizer is an exemplary way for you to keep your collar stays safe, sound and in one place. You will never have to worry about losing your collar stays, by storing them in another place, such as a small jewelry box or a dresser drawer, because this wall-mounted clip keeps them right where you want them, when you need them. What is even better, you can also order your collar stays as a gift, or for yourself, and they can be personalized by a monogramming.

Monogramming your collar stays will not only ensure that everyone knows that they belong to you, but you can also offer them as a gift with a personalized message, such as a nickname, explicit thought

or just a memorable date. Although men's collar stays are an excellent addition to any wardrobe, that does not mean that they cannot be fun. When you choose to have them monogrammed, you can offer a bit of fun and romance to an otherwise simply functional item. Whether you decide to purchase collar stays for yourself or for the special man in your life, you know you are getting the best, highest quality collar stays available and that the best prices possible when you buy them on the Internet.
