Hearts of London manufactures beautiful and timelessly stylish diamond engagement rings, platinum wedding bands, eternity rings, and fine jewellery pieces. Qualified and experienced gemmologists and expert craftsmen sit together to design and manufacture voguish diamond jewellery pieces at the Hatton Garden workshop of Hearts of London. Each piece of diamond jewellery is crafted with fastidious attention to detail using only the finest quality precious metals (gold and platinum). Hearts of London strongly disapproves of unethical mining and uses only the diamonds that are guaranteed conflict free, ethically sourced and independently certificated and graded by the GIA. It is worth mentioning here that GIA (Gemmological Institute of America) is the most reputable and renowned gemmological laboratory in the world. Passing though the strict and rigorous quality checks of GIA, therefore, requires the diamond to be simply the best and authentic.

Hearts of London Gold & Platinum Engagement Rings are Reasonably Priced!

Prices of gold and diamonds have rose exorbitantly over the previous year, making diamond jewellery costlier than ever. The price hike has been quite disappointing for the couples wishing to follow the regal couple down the aisle while ensuring a royal saving. Thanks to direct diamond jewellers, such as Hearts of London, your diamond engagement ring or Platinum Wedding Bands won't cost you the earth. Being one of the leading direct diamond jewellers in the United Kingdom, Heart of London is committed to extending outstanding quality and value for your money. In sharp contrast to the world's most recognised jewellery brands, Hearts of London diamond jewellery pieces tend to fall just between 50% and 60%. While their goldsmiths have all the work on Bond Street, their diamond jewellery prices don't carry the substantial brand premiums of their rivals.

Their Signature Collection is Absolutely Breathtaking!
