While participating in water sports and activities such as swimming, water polo, diving, surfing, water skiing etc, beachwear or better said swim wear is worn by the participators. However, now it has become a fashion status clothing too. These clothing are available in skin-tight or loosely fitting garments, which are designed to cover the whole body or its parts. Women's beachwear includes bikinis, one-piece, boy shorts, skirts, sarong, and wraps. Men's swimsuits can be either a bikini-style brief or the longer and fuller swim trunk.

The first thing that comes to our mind, as we think of it for men is the standard pair of black or blue swimming trunks. For those who love to look colourful, having colourful prints would be just apt. However, the present day it covers very little, but it is exactly what it is meant to do for displaying that Abs and well-toned body. Other good option for those who feel shy in donning skimpy trunks can be your Bermudas and cargos. You can satisfy your desire to wear those bright colors on your beachwear, which otherwise you cannot even think of wearing on any other attire. Wearing sleeveless t-shirt paired with shorts or even with your swimming trunks looks nice. You can also opt for getting some interesting logo or design done on your t-shirt.

For men, the classic beachwear is the lifeguard briefs. It has become wider at the sides for a more comfortable fit- neither too tight nor too revealing. The classic board shorts are always loved by men. They can be worn as regular shorts during the day too. This summer, men's beachwear is brightly colored, with prints like tribal safari style and flower prints. A printed t-shirt with a solid bathing suit pant also looks good on men at beach. All these clothing is easily available online where you just have to choose the best one for yourself.
