Horse Rugs â€“ the Different Variations by Julia Roger

Article published on June 25th 2012 | Shopping

Horse rugs need to be purchased properly. They are available in different styles and variants. Each has its own purpose of use. While some rugs are used to keep insects away from the horse, others act as a cooler. Then there are also quite a few turnout rugs also available. Turnout rugs are extremely popular. They provide the best protection from dirt and moisture while the animal enjoys outdoor activities. When a horse participates in activities like showjumping, trials, and racing, there are strong chances of getting covered up by dirt and debris. This is where Horse Rugs come in handy.

Be it jumpers series or the equestrian rugs from Mark Todd, they all are made from the finest quality of materials. However, each of these rugs is manufactured in a different way. Considerable amount of differences can be observed in between summer and winter horse rugs. While the winter rugs feature for some sort of padding or filling, the summer ones are much lighter in appearance. They do not have any extra padding or filling. In fact, the extra fillings that can be found in winter rugs are there to protect the horse from excessive coldness. Mesh rugs are popular choices for summer season. They can protect these animals from direct sunlight, while keeping their body much cooler. They also plays significant role in keeping away bugs and dermis away from the horse. This prevents any sort of injury or bites.

For jockeys, it is necessary to opt for suitable Horse Riding Wear. The rider needs to feel comfortable while taking part in horse riding activities. It is necessary to wear a suitable metal helmet while riding. This will prevent any injury to head in case the rider accidentally falls down from the horse.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/horse-rugs-the-different-variations.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a Horse Rugs, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a Horse Riding Wear!

Article Keywords:
Horse Rugs, Horse Riding Wear

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!