Home décor remains incomplete without suitable floor carpets. However, it is obvious that carpets face severe wear and tear after being spread on the floors. To make a carpet last longer than usual, suitable underlays are used. They are placed beneath the carpet. In fact, Cloud 9 Cumulus Underlay is placed in between floor and carpet. This helps in avoiding direct contact of the carpet with floor. Underlay works as an insulator against heat, sound, and as well other constituents that are scrape inflicting in nature. Comfort level of carpet also increases with the presence of such underlay arrangement. It becomes comfortable and more luxurious to step in carpets with cloud 9 cumulus being present beneath. However, is it only Cloud 9 Cumulus that is considered the best form of underlay available in the market? Aren't there any other alternatives available?

Waffle rubber is one of the widest carpet underlays being used these days. Weight and thickness may differ from one item to another considerably. However, selection of underlay needs to be done according to the quality and type of your carpet. Most of the people think that best underlays are heavier in nature. Thickness does not play any role in ensuring durability factor of carpets. Flat rubber is the best material to be used for underlays. Although flat rubber can be quite expensive but they are the most durable of all. No matter how much foot trafficking is experienced, the rubber underlay remains intact.

Underlays prepared from polyurethane chips are also quite handy options to avail. These items are totally eco-friendly in nature. These underlays are easy to clean and maintain.
