Lots of people like to have beanbag chairs in their apartment; it comes in lots of shapes, sizes, and fabrics which make it popular between all tastes. The best thing about bean bag chairs is that it was originally made to be mobile furniture, so it can be easily moved from one room to the other. There are even some beanbag chairs made weatherproof specifically to suit outdoors, you can take them to the park and enjoy reading a book while sitting in your cozy beanbag chair.

The filling of beans bag chair make it suitable for almost every body size and shape to have one, there are even some extra large beanbag chairs to suit big people, and small size for kidsâ€™ rooms.Finding the right bean bag chair can be hard especially with all those manufacturers offering them in different websites and beanbag stores. However, there are certain factors that you need to consider before buying your beanbag chair.

First of all you need to consider what size and shape of the beanbag chair you want. A pear shape will be good option for those who want more comfort to their bags, flat bean bag chairs for two, or smaller sizes for your kids room.

Second, you should look at the fabric used to make the beanbag chair before buying it, most beanbag chairs are made of vinyl which is very easy to clean. Some people prefer cloth bean bags chairs because they think that vinyl is sticky and not as comfortable as cloths.Some bean bag chairs are also made of denim, leather, and so many other fabrics. The important thing is to choose a good quality fabric that is easy to clean, there are some removable bean bag chairs that you can clean and change. You need to make sure that the zipper is locked for safety and the seams are double stitched to add strength to your bean bag chair. Quality is very important factor to consider when you buy beanbag chairs because they are usually dragged on the floor and moved all over the house.

Kids will usually play with them as well which makes quality is important again.Filling is another thing to think of before buying bean bags chairs, choose 100% recycled Polystyrene as a better environmental option that will stand compression without losing the comfort of the chair.Finally the design will be your decision totally and you can choose whatever you like from available designs on beanbag chairs stores or online.
