The holiday season is upon us and we all know that, despite what many have told us throughout our lives, itâ€™s better to receive than it is to give. Itâ€™s also very fun to be surprised. With that in mind, weâ compiled a list of gift ideas that are bound to surprise and amaze your friends and loved ones by virtue of their sheer originality and awesomeness. Take a look!

LEGO Star Wars Darth Vader Alarm Clock

The Force is supposed to always be with you, but try telling that to someone who is trying to rely on their â€œmental alarm clockâ€• to get them out of bed for a 6AM flight. Enter Lord Vader. This alarm clock will impress your friends and children while making sure you never miss an early start again! The best part is, itâ€™s not really Darth Vader so you donâ€™t have to worry about him doing that death-choke thing to you when you hit the snooze button too hard.

The Pillow Remote Control

I think itâ€™s pretty safe to say that your average human wouldnâ€™t anticipate that this item would have been invented, let alone find it under the tree on Christmas morning. This amazing device isnâ€™t just a great place to rest your head when youâ€™re lying in bed or on the couch, itâ€™s also a universal remote that can be used to surf channels, control volume and do all the other things that a regular remote control does. Maximize your laziness and comfort with one amazing device! Isnâ€™t technology wonderful?

Professional Telephone Voice Changer

Nothing beats a good prank call but thereâ€™s nothing more awkward than your boss discovering that it was you who told him his wife was going behind his back with Tiger Woods in a very convincing phone conversation. Keep his marriage intact AND keep your job by avoiding getting your employer involved in your leisure time activities. When you do dial people up to have a little fun at their expense, use this voice changer to keep your identity as safe as the gold in Fort Knox!

Happylight 6000 Sunshine Supplement

Thereâ€™s no real substitute for the power of the sun. Itâ€™s what makes flowers and crops grow. Itâ€™s keeps us from having to endure another ice age. Itâ€™s what gives Superman his amazing powers. Thereâ€™s no real substitute for that big hot blob of gas in the sky, but the closest thing to it is the Happylight 6000. Put this baby in your office and anywhere else you spend time and chase the winter blues with 6,000 LUX of Natural Spectrum Daylight to keep your body working at full speed without any need for naps or any stimulants whatsoever. Whatâ€™s LUX, you ask? We donâ€™t know. W just know that 6,000 is enough for this thing to be awesome. Just plug it in, and make like the Partridge Family and get happy!
