Article Side

The Oscarâ€™s Best Dressed Ladies by Tara Brooke

Article published on March 28th 2012 | Society

Well the polls are in on who the best dressed was for the evening and I wanted to throw in my two cents about who I loved. This is the one out of a few times a year our dear celebrates declare who they are by wearing the worldâ€™s best designers. So here are my top 10 picks for the best dressed ladies, make sure to click links to view pictures.

My number one choice for the night was Angelina Jolie in that amazing black Versace gown she looked absolutely stunning! When she hit that stage she owned the night and she knew it. As a side note I will say that I thought she was too thin and I would have loved to see more meat on her bones. While she is absolutely beautiful I feel that it sends the wrong message to young women. You can be thin and in great shape but being healthy and strong is the most important thing.

My next pick is Gwyneth Paltrow. She looked gorgeous in white hot Tom Ford, it literally made me say, â€œwowâ€• out loud. Iâ€™m in love with her gown and feel it really made a statement on the red carp Her gown had a cape which cascaded down to the floor. Gwyneth has such an amazing sense of style and I usually love what she shows up in especially lately. She has the ability to do minimalist, fresh, classic, and chic just perfectly Lifestyle!

Next for me was Cameron Diaz she looked fit, healthy and her body was jaw dropping. I love how the Gucci dress hugged her frame to absolute perfection.

Well done, Cameron!The next dress I loved was one of my favorite models and action stars, Milla Jovich. Her classic beauty always shines and wearing that stunning Elie Saab gown made her look like the ultimate Hollywood leading lady. Everything about her look at the Oscarâ€™s worked!

When Jessica Chastain hit the red carpet in that glamorous Alexander McQueen dress I thought the gold and black was perfect.

The dress seemed to embody what the Oscars are all about. What an amazing young actress she is her performance in The Help was wonderful and Iâ€™m excited to see what she does next. I think she is a stunning Red head! Sweet and lovely is what came to mind when Michelle Williams stepped onto the red carpet in her coral colored Louis Vuitton gown.

She has such a delicate and soft beauty about her I thought it was the perfect choice for her and totally different than anything else I saw that evening.I have to say that I was disappointed that my next pick for best dressed of the night Viola Davis was not presented with an Oscar! What an amazing performance she gave in The Help and I love how she showed up on the red carpet looking like a Siren in the gorgeous green Vera Wang.

Now my last three picks are Maria Menounos in the sea foam green dress by Maria Lucia Hohan. I thought it was goddess like and extremely feminine in fact that would be a dress I would wear if I ever attended the show.Next, was new comer Ellie Kemper who was breathtaking in her totally unique Armani Priveâ€™ she looked flawless! Last but not least is the beautiful Stacy Kiebler she caught my attention in that stunning off the shoulder dress by Marchesa.

She looked amazing and actually looked like an Oscar herself perfect for her handsome leading man George Clooney.

I hope you had as much fun as I did watching these beauties walk the red carpet and grace the stage! There is always inspiration we can draw by viewing fashion in this way. Till next year!

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/society-articles/the-oscar-s-best-dressed-ladies.htm - Article Side

Tara Brooke - About Author:
a Advice for women , Tara Brooke has spent years enjoying a successful modeling career and in this capacity has travelled the world. Tara Brooke coaches a Healthy Lifestyle .

Article Keywords:
Relationship Advice,Advice for women,How to become a model,Healthy Lifestyle

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!