Article Side

Android is loved by one and all by James Gini

Article published on January 19th 2012 | Software

One of the most important news of 2011 from the information technology is the announcement of release of software named BlueStack from the company of same name. BlueStack, based in California, USA, has developed an application that can make user run their Android application on their big size screens. Android app player is one of the top ten applications that got downloaded from internet.

Internet research found that â€˜android apps for pcâ€™ one of the most searched term on search engines. People who live in the Android shell are eagerly waiting for the release of BlueStack that will make them use their Android environment on PC as well. The user will not be restricted to using their favorite application and games on small hand sized devices only, but now can enjoy the fun of playing games on the widescreen of their desktop or pc. However, only those using the Windows on Pc can utilize the benefit of BlueStack as the Mac version of Android on desktop is yet to be released. The windows version is in the alpha development stage and pro version is expected anytime during the year 2012.

The best part about the entire BlueStack venture is that it is strongly funded by AMD and Citrix. Both the companies have pulled around few millions in the future of the company and are expecting a lot from the new and paid version of the software. The statistic of the over 570 thousand downloads in just few months is itself a boosting news. The entire team of the application development is working tremendously hard to get the best of the software to make it more and more user-friendly as they can.

The users can also use the benefit of Google Cloud Connect to get the maximum benefit of the Android on pc software. As the time will pass, the researchers are planning to bring something new and keep the requirement alive and will make the people coming back to Android. It is surely a big worry for the Blackberry and IPhone team to think about.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/software-articles/android-is-loved-by-one-and-all.htm - Article Side

James Gini - About Author:
BlueStacks offers latest apps for your PC or desktop by which you can run android on pc which is compatible not only with windows but also for Mac OS. Now a android windows and enjoy the a android for windows.

Article Keywords:
Android app player, android apps for pc, android windows, android for windows

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!