Article Side
Custom writing Service by John Shaw

Article published on May 15th 2012 | Software

A dissertation is a part of a research paper consisting of a long essay on a particular subject as a requirement to get a doctor of Philosophy degree by a university. It is prepared by a researcher at any doctorate level course. It is a written project used for final assessment of a degree which includes different levels of study in different countries. The dissertation, which at many places is also called thesis, provides an opportunity to the students to fill in the blanks between their theoretical learning and its practical implementation. It is a scholarly work conducted independently by the student which is under the direction of a full-time GSEP faculty member.

A research paper includes the objective, approach, procedure, findings and conclusion of the research. In dissertation, the content for a research paper is made. This can be related to the background of subject matter of that research topic. Dissertation development includes the detail of the subject on which the research is to be performed such as introduction, literature research approach, data collection, findings of the data collected, conclusions and the references used. The previously written articles and the literature review on that topic is done online in all the journal, articles, books and any relevant academic sources and then the selected content out of that literature is chosen and then the final dissertation is prepared. We fulfill all the needs related to the dissertation development. In all kind of researches whether at college, management course or university level, dissertation is a key concept and we provide assistance in developing it as part of the research papers, business reports and making presentations. Our team has specialization in preparing dissertations and research papers and can provide content which suits to the academic requirements internationally such as perfect referencing, layout design and strong reasoning. If you want more information about us please visit our website www.dissertation-writinghelp.com or contact us-buycoursework@gmail.com

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/software-articles/custom-writing-service.htm - Article Side

John Shaw - About Author:
John Shaw
Address: 54-Scott Street, Glasgow, Scotaland, UK
Ph No: 044-07005-963-091
Zip Code: G3 6PR

Article Keywords:
Dissertation Writing Help, essay writers, essay help, proposal, college homework, homework help, research paper, term paper

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!