There are different kinds of hacking softwareâ€™s available in the market that can be used to hack anotherâ€™s Gmail account. Similarly, there is another most popular software among all these softwareâ€™s. This software is used to hack the password of any Gmail account. You can use this hacking technique for the learning purpose or you can purchase this hacking software online. The right procedure to use this hacking software is mentioned below:

When you use this hacking software, you can create a .exe file for hacking Gmail. But, before that you need to download this software to hack the Gmail account password. Now, run the .exe file to fill the necessary details in it like your Gmail address and Gmail password. Basically, this is the user name and password of the person who wants to hack another email account. The account details of the other Gmail account will get received on this e-mail id that you enter, after this step, press the build button. It creates a hacker file with extension .exe in the existing directory.

Now, you have to design a page that contains the content and links that most people like. For example, you can create an Orkut scrap page for phishing purpose. Designing a fake Orkut scrap page is very easy, or you can also create this page by editing any old Orkut scrap page.

You just have to make some modifications in the content to make it up-to-date and just, add the link of the .exe file that you have created in place of any other link mentioned. After reviewing the page completely, send it to the Gmail account whose password and user details you want to steal. At the time when the user clicks the .exe link, he or she will be redirected to the fake gmail page where he/she will have to fill his user name and password to login again and when the user fills his/her login details , then, those details will get stored in the log file sent by you. Therefore, by following this method, you will be able to get the private account details of another Gmail account in the email id that you have entered while creating .exe file.

Now, you can check all the e-mails, chat conversations and all other features of the hacked Gmail account as you access normally in a Gmail account. This way, you can spy on another Gmail account and thatâ€™s not on a single account but on multiple Gmail accounts. Now, after learning about this hacking technique, you can also protect your Gmail account from being hacked. You just have to check that every time when you enter your account username and password, the Gmail login page should be a secure â€œhttpsâ€• page and not the â€œhttpâ€• page that is a page without secure lay
