Magento Features Magento Premium Package for Large e-Commerce Groups

by Matthew Walton

Article published on March 5th 2012 | Software

Magento has added considerably through the astonishing growth of e-Commerce. No business which desires to focus on specific market which conducts it's dealings on the web can afford to be without e-Commerce website. If e-Commerce has grown leaps and bounds, so is the modern technology. Magento is among the most most popular in the destinations simply because it gives adaptability and scalability for the developers.

A short while ago, Magento has launched Magento Enterprise Premium package, that is introduced because of large-scale e-Commerce businesses. The package incorporates many Magento enterprise licenses having two production along with one development license; Additionally, it possesses platinum level SLA Magento assistance with live 24x7 phone assist, architectural advisory along with comprehensive code review in order to cater to the business wants and training program "eCommerce together with Magento" is included in Magento expert consulting.

This new package presents state of the art characteristics like multi-store fronts making use of a 1 administrator interface, consistent Magento shopping cart, RMA, personalized product sales, marketing and promoting tools amidst many others. To fulfill the requirements the e-commerce businesses every one of these have the additional support, coaching as well as scalability.

Let's talk about the cause for the popularity of Magenot Development in India among the Magento developers. Additionally that are not tech savvy can edit or even put the information, and this could be the prim reason associated with popularity. Indeed being an open source technology, it all empowers the clients 100 % command about the display, page elements layout, performance, and moreover written content of the webpage.

Magento development besides that makes integration with Google Analytics gentle and seamless so different reports can be viewed by the administration panel. The statement like sales report, stock report, sales bill report, to product report are some example. As a result the business maintain a record of progress of the product sales plus inventory.

Just as an individual has a business for selling the saris. Whenever a Magento shopping cart is formed, it's possible for the users to go through category-wise navigation. Magento developers build varied sub-categories. Due to this, individuals could certainly have a look at products thru various photographs with zoom in along with out function. Along with see associated product, to choose the item, to discover the share availability of the merchandise, and send the images of the item by means of emails choice can be obtained.

Magento e-Commerce system enables developers for making the handling of all the purchases trouble-free and user-friendly. As one example, the shopper orders could be taken, changed or even created by the admin panel. Creating bills as well as credit memo for each and every buy also included in Magento development. There is also an arrangement to send out notices by e-mail for any generated orders.

Shipment forms an integral part of Magento development. Business users has got the choice to select the locations where products have to be sent. It has an option to indicate price per/order or even can select free delivery as well. As far as payments is involved, Magento presents a lot of payment options as the system is connected with Google checkout. Having generated the invoice, payment can be accomplished through cheques, money order as well as on-line money transfers etc.

When making any site today, Search Engine Optimisation plays a big role in driving the web page over the top search results. A web site created with the aid of Magento comes with in-built Web optimization functions which bring web site on the top of search results.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/software-articles/magento-features-magento-premium-package-for-large-e-commerce-groups.htm - Article Side

Matthew Walton - About Author:
This author is an IT professional with a world wide web software advancement business. He has participated in a number of Magento development trainings. He writes extensively concerning a Magento Shopping Cart development in India.

Article Keywords:
customize magento, customizing magento, magento customization, magento customization india, magento customizations, magento developer, magento developer india, magento developers, magento developers india, magento development, magento development company,

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!