In traditional and even in modern society, people decide to enter married life when they believe that they have found someone that they are truly compatible with. Luckily, compatibility can be determined by analyzing birth signs related to astrology. But first, it is important to understand that compatibility has many different aspects, and they are classified into the following categories:

1. Physical compatibility. This involves several factors such as height, physical attraction, smell, hair style, and manner of dress. Although this is superficial, looks can greatly influence any relationship, especially in the early stages of being together. For example, women generally prefer men who are taller and stronger than them. Men, on the other hand, look for physical characteristics like a nice bodily figure. A man and a woman who are physically compatible are heavily attracted to each other physically, and this leads to a rewarding intimate and romantic life.

2. Mental or intellectual compatibility. There are men and women who always seem to â€œtune in to the same radarâ€•. They are able to understand each other's thoughts when others get confused, and they can perceive and communicate in a unique way that they just can't demonstrate towards other people. Partners like these are said to be intellectually compatible. They have the same level of understanding, and they see things in the world in an almost identical manner.

3. Emotional compatibility. This is one of the most important aspects of compatibility that effects successful marriages and allows two people to stay with each other for the long haul. A man and a woman who are emotionally compatible seems to be chained together in feelings. They are able to empathize with each other no matter what the situation may be. Often, words need not be said in order to be understood.

To determine compatibility with a person, a person can consult the far-reaching field of astrology to find out what the symbols and signs in the universe say about one's romantic destiny. Astrology provides guidelines and clues that helps people find the right partner or â€œsoulmateâ€•. This, in turn, saves an individual the heartbreak and pain wasted on relationships that don't work out. By finding a compatible partner for long term romance, one can be ensured of happiness and fulfillment for the upcoming years.

The use of astrology dates back to the time of the early Ptolemies of Egypt, and it is used to predict important events such as abundance and famine. Later on, Vedic, Hellenistic, Chinese and Western Astrology developed a zodiac system that allowed people to receive personalized predictions and insights that will provide them guidance for their romantic life.
