How to Use Your Mobile Phone for Instant Psychic Readings by Yuri Romanov

Article published on February 7th 2012 | Spirituality

Psychic reading has been a source of comfort and insight for people for hundreds of years now. In the past, getting an accurate psychic prediction or tarot interpretation is only possible through face to face visits with an expert psychic intuitive. However, because there are far more technological advancements today, there are now new and better ways to get an authentic reading. One of the hottest trends today is psychic text messaging, and it is a very convenient way to get daily horoscopes or astrology predictions.

Psychic experts in the Digital Age are now equipped with mobile phones and smartphones that allow them to reach more clients and help more people around the world. Frequently, these psychics offer their SMS services to the public by means of a homepage or website. Upon request of the SMS service, the client will be shown a unique text messaging hotline or single number to dial so he or she can forward psychic questions directly through mobile phone.

Aside from the unique SMS hotline, clients who wish to avail of the psychic text messaging service are asked to key in a keyword or phrase which would instantly give them access to the next available psychic reader on the website. These keyword or phrases are usually confidential and given only to paid subscribers or clients who are serious about getting a psychic reading immediately.

Psychic related websites have varying payment schemes. Some websites charge a fee for every message sent, while others give more value for their client's money by charging a fee for each message pair. Others let their clients pay a reasonable monthly fee which already includes the psychic text messaging service among an entire line of other features and functions. The important thing to remember is to choose a payment scheme which is more convenient for the current situation.

When sending a psychic text message, it is better to be more detailed with your questions, but maintain brevity at the same time. The advantage of doing this is that it erases the need to send multiple messages just to clarify the message. As a result, clients can save more money and receive as much information as possible.

More and more people are choosing to avail of psychic text message features because it is fast, secure and affordable. All it takes is to key in a few letters on a mobile phone, press the send button, and receive an accurate psychic reading in a matter of seconds. It is also more affordable than most traditional psychic reading services.
