Roger Hamilton- a Man Opinionated on Wealth Creation by Corwin Smith

Article published on January 23rd 2012 | Success

There is only one man who deserves to be in the news every hour of the day. And the name of that man is Roger Hamilton. And the reason that this man should be in the news is that he has single handedly changed the face of the world of wealth creation, and much more than that this man has done that in the manner that was not at all expected. It is really surprising that only this man could have done that as it was really an onerous task. The world of economy is going through times that had not been seen since a long time. One recession after another had been hitting the global economy that has put a lot of pressure on the countries as well as the citizens of those countries. It became really important that some stringent measure were taken so that the economy stays in control.

But when there is something inherently wrong with the system itself then there is little scope of improvement. But not many people tried their best to improve the system in the way that it should have been improved. And that could only have happened if somebody had tried to think out of the box. But the stranglehold of the present economic system is such that not a single soul could have thought about ways that could change the operations or at least change the small things that were demanding the necessary changes. And Roger Hamilton could do that because he had the courage as well as the desire to see that something was really done to improve the system.

When Roger Hamilton, who himself was a part of the system for as long as ten years of his professional life and that too when he just completed his education from one of the best universities in the world, delved into the matter he realized that there was something inherently wrong with the system. And Roger found that that innate thing wrong with the system was the missing of the element of nature in the process of wealth creation. And as long as the nature would be kept out of the system of wealth creation there can never be a day or a year that would really be free of one or the other kind of mishaps that would hit the lives of the people who have to operate in the present state of economy.

But Roger Hamilton is a man of a different sort and was opinionated that there has to be a very important but a different approach that needs to be adopted in the zest to change the system that was too powerful but too error prone. And the conclusion that he stumbled upon was that the nature deserves a better position in the scheme of things as far as the act of wealth creation is concerned.
