Article published on February 11th 2012 | Technology

Tech gadgets have become a rage in today's world and science has been making such rapid strides that new gadgets are being invented daily. There are so many gadgets available in the market today that you really get confused about what to choose. Let us take a peep into the latest gadgets that have come into the market.

One of the most modern inventions is the Portable Freezer. This is a battery operated device and works with the aid of LED lights which are fixed on the top most part of the device which supplies the necessary lighting and helps to cool the device. It is one of the newest inventions and looks really trendy.

Another new gadget that has come out is the dog umbrella leash. This is a completely new device which has been launched especially for pet dogs to be protected from the rain while going for walks during the rainy season. You just need to fix this attachment onto your dog's collar which is made of transparent PVC. It is quite reasonably priced and really a worth while investment for your pet.

The cigarette lighter camera is another new high tech gadget that has come out today. This is specially meant for detectives and police inspectors who can make use of this media gadget to click photos of crimes without even letting other people know that you are clicking away. This is because people will think that it is just a cigarette lighter and never guess that this is a camera.

External USB drives have also become more high tech, savvy and trendy these days. They have become very speedy, more compact and have greater storage capacities.

These are just some of the high tech gadgets that are in vogue today. There are numerous other devices that are available in the market for you to choose according to your needs. Just clicking online will get you informed of all the latest gadgets that have been launched.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/technology-articles/an-overview-of-the-high-tech-gadgets.htm - Article Side

James Gini - About Author:
This is the age of a hi tech gadgets. No body is complete without them and we rely so much on these a tech gadgets for our day to day activities.

Article Keywords:
latest gadgets, media gadget, hi tech gadgets, tech gadgets

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!