The Three Newest DJ Controller by Lexordaren

Article published on February 20th 2012 | Technology

No man can stop the evolution of all things and they still work at its best aspect. With its development, the music itself is also transforming. Since humans are not contented on what they see and hear, intelligent ones make the music to its outmost stage. It was all initiated by integrating 40 tracks and the DJs continuously examine to make it more at ease and fashionable.

More evolution comes to its way and electronic dance music appeared so hot. Therefore, famous artists must be aware that they have to get the interest of the people to remain on their position. Electronic touch is what you mostly hear on hip-hop or rap genre. That is because DJs are mixing music to different music and combined the beat of every track. The DJ controller is the reason why DJs brought beautiful music that makes you move. To give you access to the top three newest DJ controllers, here are those.

The very controversial one is the Allen and Heath Xone. The said unit is built powerfully, with high end circuitry, fashionable filter, and crisp sound. Through its excellent qualities, the professional MIDI USB controller scopes any track that may result amazingly. The DJs mixer has a built in Serato Itch but because it is MIDI controller you can plot your controls anything you want. Built-in hardware MIDI interface, built-in 20 Channel USB soundcard, and 24bits/96kHz are some of the additional excellent feature of the controller. When it comes to its housing; you can notice that it is finished with outstanding generous metal. The jog wheel is not the best because of its size, on the contrary because of its Itch fired up; it can give you solid rock music that will face any demands.

Next on the list is the Traktor Kontrol S4, which is supported by Native Instrument. The S4 is a premium-quality 4-channel DJ mixer with a built-in 24 bit/96 kHz soundcard custom tailored for S4 version of Traktor. The jog wheel is a multi functional electromagnetic that delivers rock slid music, though its channel faders, pitch control, and cross-fader stir freely but not on its own will. You can also customize your S4 set up into sample decks, live inputs, and track decks. The distance of placing of controls to one another is very well calculated and with clean design.

Serato's Itch software optimized and ships the third controller - Numark's NS7. You can simply run one track to another track by positioning your finger to the sensor that is located at the top panel of NS7. Its backlit buttons are brighten in white and red. This feature is useful in places with low light conditions and darkened clubs. This DJ mixer can also be combined with Numark's NSFX effects unit making it more interesting and have creative results.

Nonetheless, the DJ mixer is not sufficient when the DJ does not love his job and does not affect the people listening on his music. The ingredient to create wonderful music is on their determination and passion on what they are doing.
