Valencia is the best resort for the beach holiday makers as it has many sandy beaches which cover an area of about 2.8 kilometers and all these beaches are equipped with best facilities for the visitors. These beaches are not the only attractions in the city as you will find many other attractions including golf clubs, orange groves and vineyards with plenty of natural scenery, flowers and beauty all around as this city is the most fertile one in the whole Spain.

You can easily reach to beach of Valencia city from the airport as it is located only at the distance of eight kilometers and it will take you maximum 15 minutes to drive towards the city beach.

Playa de Las Arenas and Playa de La Malvarossa beaches are also located at a distance of 10 minutes drive and these are the famous beaches and if you are residing in the center of the city then it will take you maximum 20 minutes to reach these beaches through bus. Tram service is also available from Pont de Fusta and it will take you ten minutes to reach at Las Arenas beach.

Once you reach at Las Arenas beach then you can reach La Malvarossa beach through a walk of thirty minutes and it will be great fun for you to walk along the beach while enjoying the crystal clear water and sand beneath your feet but if you do not like to walk then you can hire a bike to reach at La Malvarossa beach.

Both beaches have many facilities and activities for the visitors and you can also enjoy meals and drinks from any of the restaurants which are located at the beach. These sandy beaches are perfect for sunbathing, beach activities and swimming.

Historical Background of Beaches in Valencia:

There was a popular resort at Playa de Las Arenas beach during the end of 19th and start of 20th century but this resort does not exist today.

The official name of Las Arenas is Playa de Levante but this beach is called by the name of Las Arenas by the local residents.

There was an up-market resort at the beach which is now rehabilitated into a five star luxury hotel called â€œBalneario de Las Arenas Hotelâ€•. The up-market resort was designed like the Greek temple and was famous as the meeting point of the local middle class residents of Valencia.
