Booking Cheap Minicabs by Mary Porter

Article published on June 21st 2012 | Travel

Using cheap minicabs is the ideal way to get to the airport or anywhere that you need transportation to. If you don't have a car then cheap minicabs provide an invaluable service to get you around. Most people will use taxis when they go out for a night as they want to have a drink so will leave their car at home. If there is a group of you then cheap minicabs are a great option because you can split the cost between friends making it very reasonable and often cheaper than public transport. With the cost of public transport rising all the time cheap minicabs are becoming more and more popular as they can be more reliable than public transport and get you places quicker and on time which is not guaranteed with buses or trains.

If you're looking for Heathrow airport transfers then many cheap minicabs will offer this service. Airport parking can be very expensive especially in the London area so it is often cheaper to book Heathrow airport transfers well in advance. Some companies that offer Heathrow airport transfers and cheap minicabs will also offer a meet and greet airport parking service. Meet and greet airport parking is the ideal solution when it comes to airport parking as it is easy, stress free and very convenient. You will arrive at the airport in your car and the meet and greet company will meet you at a designated point. They will take your keys and park your car in a secure car park until you return. Once you return they will meet you outside the terminal with your car so there is no need for cheap minicabs or Heathrow airport transfers.

For people without a car or people who really don't want to leave their car in an airport car park then cheap minicabs and Heathrow airport transfers is the best option. The price of Heathrow airport transfers will depend on how far you live from the airport and the size of the taxi you require. It may also depend on the time of day that you need to travel.
