There are things in life we do for others and then there are those special things that we do that are just for ourselves, indulgent moments of our lives where we do what we want, where we donâ€™t have to answer to others, These are called holidays. They are those sublime times when we drop tools, say good bye to our fellow employees and go off on an adventure. Holidays are simply majestic, they are one of those rare moments in our lives where we are our own master, where we are free from the many constraints of our everyday lives, where we are able to do what we want, when we want. Most of the time anyway, often we have the kids along and have to do something to shut them up every so often, but that doesnâ€™t change the general thrust of the argument: that holidays are pretty much the most awesome time in our lives.
