Article Side

Enjoyable to remain in Comfort Zone Hotels Birmingham City Centre by Wilson

Article published on July 31st 2012 | Travel

Birmingham is Britain's second-largest city and is located in the West Midlands region northwest of London. In the 1800?s, the city was known as the Workshop of the World' as it was here that the Industrial Revolution began. Birmingham attracted merchants and workers from around Britain as industries blossomed. A whole network of canals was dug for the transportation of goods and the city become the focal point of a wealthy region. If you have planned to see Birmingham for all england championship, vacations and the first ever business travel, then Looking for Hotels in Birmingham city centre, Try to Comfortzone is the the perfect alternative to Birmingham Hotels. Comfortzone is an ideal choice for a short and long term stay in Birmingham. which is located in Granville Street, Birmingham (United Kingdom), was set-up in 2006 and has great experience in the Accommodation business. Comfort zone offer well managed, attractive, comfortable, clean, luxury hotels at affordable prices with Beautifully equipped with everything needed for business and leisure traveller. who want more from their stay in Birmingham. Whether you wish to stay for a night, a week or longer, you can enjoy spacious. Our aim is to provide the most desired features of a 4 star Birmingham hotel in our serviced apartments. Comfortzone focuses on regular customer feedback and strives to bring the hotel experience with added luxury and comfort in its premier accommodations namely Parkside and Cutlass Court. Our Hotels are of a very high standard, nicely decorated with a warm and contemporary look and feel. all apartments have a check-in & out reception, on-sight security, friendly staff and secure parking for residents. Our hotel apartments are approx 7 minutes walk from the International Convention Centre (ICC), the National Indoor Arena (NIA) and Broad Street. Birmingham New Street train station and the world renowned Bull Ring Shopping Centre is approx 10 minutes walk away.

You will be spoilt for choice for places to visit and hotels to stay in Birmingham. Birmingham has currently been busy in developing new hotels in the city centre such as the newly lanched stylish La Tour and EnCore. But the city has not been shy of luxury hotels in the past hosting some of the most popular names in the world such as the Hyatt, Marriot and Radisson SAS. On most occasions you will end up compromising on something and end up settling for second best. Birmingham is rich with many hotels, each unique with there own characteristics and features they offer but it can prove difficult to get a good balanced package in one. The word "Hotel" has been a buzz word for centuries, associated with a luxury lifestyle, a chance to put your feet up and relax, order room service, have your room cleaned on a daily basis on request and pampered yourself with the amentiies and hotel services that are available on offer. Today the hotel industry has changed, they have become more affordable for the majority of the public with rooms starting at Â£29 per night; the word "luxury" which was once closely associated with most hotels has now become a category. The price of a hotel room will of course come with a compromise in space, the lavish decor, comfortness of the beds, sofas or chairs, quality and finish on the bathroom appliances, in room facilities, availability of room service, conceirge service and much more. Our research suggests that most of us assume hotels are quick and easy to check in to and out and it is more practical for a short stay. This is very true but most of us dont realise that it is equally as quick, easy and practical to use serviced apartments.

In a place as diverse as Birmingham, you can look forward to coming face to face with plenty of its famous aspects in a whole range of areas, from its position as the birthplace of Cadbury's chocolate to Aston Villa and Birmingham FC, the city's main professional football clubs. Birmingham has had many famous residents in its time and some of these celebrities have gone on to achieve worldwide fame, such as Ozzy Osbourne who is not only an esteemed musician and frontman of Birmingham heavy metal band Black Sabbath but one of the eponymous stars of American reality television show The Osbournes. Birmingham is also famous for its vast world of theatrical performance. With myriad theatres displaying countless professional and amateur performances alike, including the Hippodrome, The Rep, the Alexandra and the Old Rep, Birmingham is considered something of a centre for theatre and is one of the best theatre cities in the UK outside of London. The city also served as something of an inspiration for some of the world's most influential writers, including Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and J.R.R Tolkien, who penned several scenes in his globally famous trilogy, The Lord of the Rings, using areas in Birmingham as the inspiration behind their appearance. If you're hoping to take in plenty of famous culture in a city that's as welcoming as it is exciting, choose Birmingham as your next holiday of choice and enjoy walking the streets that were home to famous faces as different and diverse as Ozzy Osbourne and J.R.R Tolkien.

Birmingham is host to thousands of tourists who travel there annually, for play or for work. Set in the heart of the west Midlands, it is Englandâ€™s second largest city and was considered the epicenter of commerce at the height of the industrial revolution. Today Birmingham is a bustling, exciting place to be with plenty of experiences on offer, from eateries to museums, drawing in tourists from far and wide for its sparkling nightlife and unique mix of cultures. There is a wide range of different places to stay in Birmingham, and many hotels will offer excellent services and amenities to visitors. Many of these hotels are also undergoing transformations to ensure quality service as well as value for money, the most unusual perhaps being the micro Birmingham hotel, which even economizes on space with its tiny pod-like rooms and state-of-the-art technology. Birmingham is also highly accessible, making it an ideal destination for visitors from across the country to come and experience everything it has to offer. Finding a hotel Birmingham is not difficult as there is a vast array of accommodation to choose from, all to suit different tastes and budgets. Many of these hotels now come equipped with bars and nightclubs, meaning that you do not even need to stray far from your Birmingham hotel room in order to have a fun-packed night. Both hotels and the city itself are continually undergoing a process of renovation in preparation for the title of Capital of Culture 2013, so there really never has been a better time to come and sample some of the sights, sounds and tastes of the city. When looking for cheap accommodation, Try Comfortzone Birmingham Hotels and serviced apartments which will offer breakfast as part of the package on offer. Many places also include special deals depending on which particular carnivals or festivals are on, and some will also offer free parking. It is a good idea therefore to check hotel Birmingham websites well in advance before booking. Finding the ideal Birmingham hotel is easy, with so many options available. Serviced apartments are a great choice for those on extended visits and many offer value and a comfortable stay. For those looking for somewhere to stay, but who are on a tight budget, hostels can provide a welcome stay with all the basics you need, often right in the city centre. Those with cash to splash can sample some of the luxury hotels on offer, from the compact and cute micro hotel to large and lavish five star establishments. There are so many different places to stay in the city, so have a look to see what options are available, and see a new side to Birmingham â€“you may be surprised at what you discover.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/enjoyable-to-remain-in-comfort-zone-hotels-birmingham-city-centre.htm - Article Side

Wilson - About Author:
If you are looking for cheap and awesome a Hotels in Birmingham city centre. then you can contact at Comfort Zone a Birmingham Hotels or E mail - reservations@comfortzoneapartments.com

Article Keywords:
Hotels Birmingham City Centre, Hotels in Birmingham City Centre, Birmingham Hotels, Hotels Birmingham, Hotel in Birmingham, Birmingham Hotel Alternative, Birmingham Hotels Near NIA, Broad Street Birmingham Hotels

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!