Five Reasons for a Stag-Do Newcastle by Julia Roger

Article published on April 6th 2012 | Travel

Newcastle is one of the most sought-after destinations in the United Kingdom. It is situated at the riverbank of Tyne. It is a very prosperous city ideal for people of all ages. A Newcastle weekend has the potential to make your stay pleasant. Now there are five reasons for a Newcastle weekend:

1) Accommodation is very cozy in Newcastle, which you can easily find. There is a range of choices with respect to the price and facilities for lodging. The facilities are excellent no matter whether you go for a family trip or a stag-do Newcastle.

2) Delicious food- You can relish a wide variety of dishes right from continental dishes to seafood dishes in the British restaurants. There are also some multicultural restaurants providing yummy cuisines and entertainment. Derby Street is one of the popular dining spots in Newcastle.

3) Colorful nightlife- A stag do newcastle can be best enjoyed in the inviting atmosphere of the night. The situation also suits well for most would-be couples. Moreover, Newcastle has now grabbed one of the top 10 positions for being a preferred nightspot on the entire planet. You can expect thrills and excitement in this celebrated destination. Pubs and bars are in plenty for your entertainment.

4) Newcastle is famous for cultural tourism. Without a visit to the many historical sites of this city, your Newcastle weekend can remain incomplete. Among the historical architectural wonders the Fort Scratchley, the Newcastle railway station and the old customs house hold special significance. You can also have some tourism of nature by visiting the wildlife Reserve and the Blackbutt forest.

5) The water sports are very enjoyable and you can indulge in some surfing activities. Every year competitions are also held in this field. The favorable weather condition is the main reason behind this.
